The William Allen Campbell Family History . . .

This Campbell Family History was put together with information provided to Jim and Helen Campbell by relatives and from information that was gathered by Louise Campbell Lechleidner Seiple over the past years.

As we began to gather the Campbell Family History the question arose as to just what is history, so I went to the Dictionary to see what it said-----History, a record of past events, usually with an interpretation of their cause and an assessment of their importance. From this you can understand that history quite often is what the recorder's feelings are and may not always be 100% correct. It is a good idea to research for more than one person's account on any particular subject.

With this thought in mind we have endeavered to gather information from a variety of sources, such as old public records, newspaper accounts, direct contact with living family members and the like. However, some things we felt important enough to include, you may not, so we ask that you please forgive us and remember we were recording history as we understood it.

We may properly credit the Romans with originating our modern system of names, but we may equally blame the demise of this intelligent practice on the barbarians who swept across western Europe between the third and fourth centuries A.D. During the Dark Ages following the fall of Rome, most Europeans were known first only by their given name and later occasionally by their given name prefixed to their place of birth.

Perhaps the most notable instance of this development was the introduction of feudalism into England with the Norman Invasion of 1066. Within the space of three generations, the French worked an almost total transformation of English culture, particularly the Anglo-Saxon and Celtic languages were merged. People took as surnames the names of flowers, animals, places, occupations and Christian names. Still another source was nicknames of which Campbell is an example. It denoted a man who had a crooked or distorted mouth from the Gaelic cam"crooked" and beul "mouth".

Though it is not certain if the name is of Norman or Gaelic origin, it is true that the clan bearing it are the most numerous and powerful in the Highlands. The name is abundant in the province of Ulster. It is reported that in the 17th century a single Scotch regiment contained no less than 110 John Campbells.

The first to assume the surname Campbell is said to have been Duncan MacDwine Campbell around the eleventh century. He was a descendant of Constantine, who emigrated from France 404 AD. The Scottish name Campbell is found predominantly in the central part of the country.

By the time of the first census in America in 1790, many Campbell families had settled in this country. The average Campbell household had 5.5 members and census records indicate that there were more Campbell heads of households living in Kentucky, North Carolina, and New York than in any other part of America.

Official United States records completed in 1974 indicate that in that year Campbell was the 41th most frequently occuring surname. Burke's General Armory lists 76 coats of arms for the Campbell Family. Most are very similar. A coat of arms is an emblem or a device which is displayed by titled persons, persons of royal blood, and their descendents. Coat of arms were originally used for the purposes of indentification and recognition on the field of battle as well as in civil life. The Campbell Coat of Arms is the Arms of the Dukes of Argyle, who are the chieftans of the Campbell clan, and numerous families sprung from this one.

We hope you will read and enjoy this copy of the William Allen and Sophronia Haswell Campbell Family history. If you contributed pictures or information about your own family we certainly want to give you our THANKS.

Our Family Group Listings contains personal information provided by those responding to our request for information. Also in some cases, when provided to us, a personal write-up is included in the History & Stories Section.

History and Stories about the Campbell Family

MITCHELL SINCLAIR CAMPBELL FAMILY

By Mildred (Campbell) Clark

After hearing the stories that the other cousins wrote about their family life while growing up, I wanted to write ours too.

The Mitchell Campbell family grew apart from the rest of the clan and it wasn't until after my sister and I grew up and had families of our own that we decided to attend the Campbell reunions and get to know the rest of the family better.

I was always told that my Dad and his brother Hugh were very close while growing up and it wasn't until after my folks started to attend the Camden Mission that they grew apart. My folks were so busy going to the Mission, they didn't have time for anything else, but work at home and the Mission.

There were seven children in our family, a sister Marie died in infancy.

My Dad, Mitchell, was married before he married my mother. His first wife died along with a new born baby boy. This had a great effect on my Dad for the rest of his life. Dad was born and raised around the Angola area and he married my mother, Verle Holbrook, from the Fremont area.

When I look back and know my Dad's father died when my Dad was a little boy, and then he lost wife and a new born son, I have always wondered how he could believe in a Gracious God.

I don't remember, it was before I was born, but my Dad and Mother were managers of the Steuben County Home near Angola. I understand they took it over from his brother, Hugh, who was manager before him.

From the County Home, my folks moved on the George Brown farm near Fremont, from there they moved to Reading, MI. This was known as the Dr. Dunkle farm to us children. Dad wanted a farm of his own, so after awhile we moved 3 miles south west of Camden, MI.

My Dad was a hard working man and he cleared a lot of the farm land himself. I remember the times we made maple syrup in the open kettle back in the woods in the early spring. The early spring plowing behind a one bottom plow pulled with horses and Dad always said a crooked man could not make a straight row.

On this farm where we grew up was a mile from the main highway and we had several acres of muck ground. On this muck ground we planted peppermint. We would have the peppermint taken to the distillery which was close to the farm. The peppermint was put into small bottles, (pure peppermint oil) and we children would knock on doors and sell the oil. When we had a real good year, the folks would take the peppermint oil to Kalamazoo, MI and sold it at some store. This oil was very good for winter colds.

Dad always had us children lined up in the fields in the summer hoeing weeds, how Dad hated to see weeds grow when we were little. I remember we used to cultivate the corn with a one row cultivator when the corn was too high to do it with the two row one. One of us would ride the horse and the other handle the cultivator and try to keep up. All was fine until the one riding the horse would speed up.

We all pitched in to help make hay and this was the hottest time of the year. The hay was loaded on the wagon with a hay loader drawn behind the wagon. As the hay would come up onto the wagon, slings were layed across the hay ever so often until the wagon was full. The slings were pulled up into the barn by a rope hitched to a horse, then slings were tripped and the hay mowed away. This fresh hay sure did smell good. Hay making time was time for fresh lemonade and watermelon. This helped cool us off.

Thrashing grain was always an exciting time of the year on our farm, but I am not sure it was a fun time for our folks. Thrashing was hard work and always a dry, hot time of the year. Dad would go help the neighbors get their grain in, then it was time for them to come to our house. Mother, with help, cooked the meal for all the men on a hot wood stove. I remember the tub we had on the back porch where the men would wash up before coming inside to eat.

I don't know why I remember this, but one year my younger brother, Rolland, found a picture of one of my Mother's old boy friends and he passed that picture around the table to the men threshers (who were our neighbors) before my mother found out what he was doing. Everyone had a good laugh and my mother was so embarrassed!

My Mother always had a garden and she loved to work in it. She loved to make bread but housework was not her thing and this made my Dad a verbalist at times.

My Mother was not a well person, she had a thyroid problem which caused a large goiter and I never realized until I was grown how much discomfort this must have caused her.

My Mother always did a lot of canning in the summer, we would go to the woods and pick blackberries and raspberries and we had big black cherries that were canned along with peaches and pickled.

On our farm we had a large apple orchard with about 6 different kinds of apples along with pears and a few peaches. We had apples all summer and the basement full in the winter. I remember how Dad used to peel his apple. He did it very slowly and was careful not to break the peel as he went around the apple and this was the way he always did it.

We lived near a lake. It was a small marshy lake so on summer days when it rained and we were not able to work in the fields, we would go fishing or swimming. Since the lake was marshy we had only one place where we could go in swimming, a sand beach. We all learned to swim at an early age.

All through elementary school we had to walk to school, a good mile. Sometimes the snow was so deep we had to start very early to make it on time. When the winter would get real cold the snowbanks would freeze hard and we could walk on top of them. The only way we could get to town was from the north by car, it would have been nice if the school was north of us instead of south!

My folks attended a Mission Church in Camden, MI when I was very small, so I don't remember not going. This Mission was a happy place. Most of the congregation was made up of families that were never raised in a Christian home or families who had fallen away from church. This Mission was like starting all over again for most. I believe the Pastor knew that everyone had a lot to learn because we went to church Sunday morning, Sunday evening, Tuesday evening, and on Thursday our folks drove to Reading, MI to prayer meetings, and back to the Mission on Saturday evening.

Saturday night was a big night in Camden, MI for all of the farmers would bring their produce in, fresh cream and eggs to be sold at the produce store. The town was filled with cars. The young people would walk around the town square, have a drink at the town pump and walk some more. My folks took their fresh cream and eggs into town and while the produce man was weighing the cream and counting the eggs we attended the Mission. After the service my folks picked up their check and my Mother would go and buy groceries and whatever else we needed. In the summer on Saturday night we were allowed to have ice cream cones at the Ketch-a-bite Restaurant (ice cream never tasted so good).

Because we attended the Mission, we were not allowed to see the out door town movies. My parents felt they were vulgar and not in good taste for little ones.

Our Pastor of the Mission was from Toledo, OH and he lived with members of the Mission, his wife and family stayed in Toledo. Every fall of the year, food was gathered by the Mission and my Dad rented a truck and the produce was loaded up; potatoes, pumpkins, apples, etc. The Pastor and my folks in the cab and us children in the back of the truck, and headed for Toledo. While we were in Toledo we got to visit the zoo and go downtown to the big Tiekies Store where they sold everything from muskrats carcasses to mink coats.

Christmas time was always fun because we got to have programs at the local school. We would practice for weeks on Christmas carols and recitations and the plays. The whole community came and at the end of the program Santa would crawl through the window and give treats to all the children. My Mother never went to the programs, this was the time she chose to make Christmas candy.

Dad was on the school board for several years. He put up swings, wood had to be hauled into the woodshed and grass had to be cut. I remember we always went to the Christmas program in a horse drawn sleigh.

Sure life had its ups and downs when we were growing up but every life does. I feel life on the farm wasn't so bad that I can't remember the good times.

Joe (Joy) Campbell

This is a summary of the life of Joy (Joe) Campbell

I was born the youngest to Mitchell and Verle Campbell, 2 miles south and a mile west of Camden, MI. I had 3 older brothers and 2 older sisters.

I graduated from Camden-Frontier High School in 1949 and later that same year I volunteered for the Armed Forces serving in Korea. After my honorable discharge from the Army in 1952 I tried several factory jobs and found that I would rather work outside than inside, so I tried driving truck. I stuck to this for 37 years until I found that I had to take treatments for my colon cancer. I had a very healthy life until I suffered a mild heart attack at 53 years, caused by having high cholesterol and being overweight by about 20 pounds. Then at 56 years I had an operation to remove part of my colon, at which time they said that they had removed all the cancer but was to get a blood test every three months. At the age of 59 my CEA Blood count was high which meant that I had some active cancer cells that were later found to be in my liver. I have been taking Chemotherapy for over 5 months now and they say that it is in remission but there is a small tumor that they would like to remove, so I am hoping that it is accomplished by the end of 1991.

Early detection seems to be the answer to controlling cancer, so until they get a cure, I urge all my friends and relatives to get checked out if you feel that things aren't feeling right with you.

I have one sister and at least one cousin that have their cancer in remission and living a normal life. They were a great help when I started to go through mine and I would like to extend my helping hand to anyone that needs it.

About my family---On July 4, 1954 I married Nancy Hartley in Allen, MI. We have three children 2 boys and a girl who have remained in Michigan and are Michigan Football fans. We also have 3 grandchildren, 2 boys and a girl.

Grover Campbell remembers . . .

My fondest memories as a child was when my morning chores were finished, getting my fishing pole and walking through the woods to Marsh Lake. I spent many lazy days of summer just fishing with the wooden pole and bobber Dad made for me. I was a combat soldier during World War II. I fought my way across Italy and North Africa. With Gods strength and guidance I made it safely back home.

William & Sophronia Campbell

On August 4, 1875 Sophronia Haswell, daughter of Hezron and Rocela Mathews was married to William Allen Campbell, son of James and Hannah Ball Campbell in Troy Township, DeKalb County, Indiana.

Their early married life was spent on his fathers place in Troy township. Their house was a log cabin and was located near what is now Byron Campbell's place.

Viola was born in this little cabin on Sept. 10, 1876, and on March 7, 1879 Clara Sedalia was born. Three weeks prior to this, James M. Campbell died and one week later Hannah B. Campbell died.

When Clara was three weeks old they moved to Richland township on 42 acres near Fish Creek. In the year 1880 on Jan 12 William Campbell bought the farm (now owned by Hugh Campbell) and moved his family there. It was here Florence Ann was born on March 30, 1881, Mary Elizabeth was born Sept. 19, 1883, Mitchell Sinclair on May 27, 1887, Hugh Allen on June 5, 1890.

On February 6, 1893 William Campbell passed away leaving here his wife and children. Viola died on August 30, 1900.

On Sept. 15, 1903, Clara married Fred Enfield, son of John and Samantha Enfield. On Sept. 25, 1907 Florence Ann was married to Ora Lasher, son of William and Delphina Taber Lasher. On April 2, 1911 Mary Elizabeth was married to Jesse Brandeberry, son of Albert and Emmaline Calvin Brandeberry. November 24, 1915 Mitchell was married to Verl Holbrook, daughter of John and Elizabeth Holbrook. December 23, 1913 Hugh was married to Sylvia Richardson, daughter of Clarence and Laura Farlee Richardson.

The Campbell Story

Have you ever looked into the world of genealogy? If you have, you will understand the frustrations we encountered as we began checking out the Campbell Ancestors. I do believe there are as many "Campbells" as "Smiths". If you read our introduction, you probably noticed there were 110 John Campbells just in one regiment in the early Scottish Army. Finding the right person, even if you know their name is a challenge.

We do know that most Campbells came to this country from Ireland or Scotland, however looking thru some old books we found that Campbells also came from all over Europe.

HUGH ALLEN CAMPBELL FAMILY

By Louise (Campbell) Lechleidner Seiple

Hugh Allen Campbell was the youngest son of William and Sophronia (Haswell) Campbell. He lived his entire life in Steuben County. He was very prominent in the affairs of the County and from 1914-1918 he was Superintendent of the Steuben County Home.

His education was the first six grades in a one room school east of Metz, IN. Completing the sixth grade, he dropped out of school to help his mother on her farm.

In his later teens he worked for John Anspaugh, Superintendent of the Steuben County Home as a farm hand, until January 1914. In 1913 the Anspaughs wanted to return to their place at Crooked Lake, but the County needed some one to replace them. He told Hugh the County would like him for the new Superintendent. Only one draw-back. He wasn't married and the work required a couple. The county wanted a man and wife.

Hugh had been dating a young lady who worked at the Oak Bluff Hotel, Crooked Lake, IN for some time now. He told her about the chance he had of becoming the Superintendent and on Dec. 23, 1913 he married Sylvia Richardson. On January 1914 they replaced the Anspaughs. The folks reminisced about the fun times, along with the work for years after they left the home. To name a few--the taffy pulls, hand turned ice cream, skating, water fights, and lots of music.

Donnell and I were born there and Mother told us many of the things we did and how much extra care it took to keep us out of reach of the inmates there. They called us their babies and would hide us in their rooms. Later years when we would go to visit the home two of the older women would come out to meet us and say, "Here comes our babies", which we resented.

In 1918 he purchased his boyhood home south east of Metz on Fish Creek and moved there on March 1. Three days later, March 4, Robert Hugh was born. This house had only four rooms, a kitchen and living room down stairs and two bedrooms up stairs. Not even one clothes press, but it did have a root cellar.

All the time our Grandmother lived here, she carried the water for cooking and cleaning from a spring house at the foot of a steep hill. All the milk and butter and other perishable foods were kept at the spring house. Up and down the hill, you can believe that was really exercise. Later a well was drilled and we carried water from the PUMP, as we called it, for all the cooking and cleaning. Our laundry days were much different then than now. Hand washers, water heated on the range in a copper boiler, white clothes cooked in the boiler to keep them white. All the clothes were hung outside on a line to dry. In the winter the clothes froze as we hung them out on the line. One winter day Mother had a nice row of one piece union suits hung out and they were really frozen stiff. Donnell was coming down the path to the house and picked up some snow and made a good snowball and threw it at the line up. Boy, was he surprised when that snowball took the whole back out of one of the those suits.

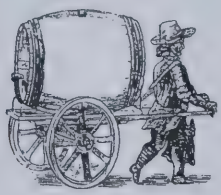
Margaret was born in 1920 and our Billie was born in 1922. Sometime before Billie was born, Dad added the two rooms on the east and the south porch. Still not one clothes press. Some time in here, Dad promised us a pony. But we got a goat instead, a goat cart and harness. Hitch that goat up and it took you anyplace but where you wanted it to go. Couldn't keep it tied up, it got loose, would open the back door if it wasn't locked and come inside. Every time Mother started for the cellar and stooped to lift the doors here came that goat for more mischief.

Jessie was born in 1925, Phyllis in 1927, and James in 1931. Sometime through these years Dad had purchased the Merchant place, back north of us. The Snyder place on the west, the place on the south side of the road from a man named Priest. Later thirty acres on the east side of Fish Creek. I believe this land attached the Merchant place on the south-east corner. The land he purchased from his Mother came direct from the government to his parents, and never changed hands until after our parents were gone. It was sold at public auction in 1959 to settle the Estate.

1937 was a special year for us, both good and bad. On March 14 Donnell and Leeta Bordner were married. On March 15, John was born and Dad told folks he had twins, a boy and a girl. That made for strange expressions on many faces. He laughed and then explained it all. In August our brother Billie died of dust fever. He was a home boy, never wanted to stay away from home over night. The big snow of 1936, when the school buses were snowed in and couldn't leave the school house, he walked the two miles through the snow drifts that night just to be home. In October, I married Willis Lechleidner and we moved to a little berg called Peck. MI.

In my growing up years I wouldn't want to close this without relating how each day began. Dad would call, "Come on, jump up, busy day today." He never called twice. He didn't need to! The boys to the barn and the girls to the kitchen. When the chores were finished, we all gathered in the living room for Bible reading and prayer led by Dad and Mother. Following devotions we all sat down to the table to eat together, and then on out to the task before us.

Louise (Campbell) Lechleidner Seiple



UNCLE JOHN CAMPBELL

Everyone has an Uncle John, so I'm told. Our Mother had one and so did our Dad. This is about my Dad's Uncle John Campbell. He was a bachelor, over six foot tall, and I suppose never found a girl to his liking (or hers). He raised the best melons, especially watermelons, best ones I ever ate.

He would stay with us during maple sugar making time. He had a way of trying to stir up competition between my Mother and our Aunt Florence. He would tell Mother she made the best soda biscuits, but Aunt Florence made the best pancakes. It didn't bother Mother, she said "eat your pancakes at Florence's and your biscuits here".

Another thing about him--he wore his overalls until they would almost stand alone. Then he spread them on the ground, got a bucket of hot, soapy water and a scrub broom and cleaned them by scrubbing, then hang them on the clothes line and dash them with several buckets of water and let them dry. When he came to our house to stay Dad bought him some new overalls so he could go to town with him. We washed his clothes in an old hand operated washer while he was with us, same as we did our own.

We had a victrola that played 78 records, and a song I can remember part of it went like this--"I don't like your Uncle John, I don't think he ever had a collar on, I don't mind lending money to your father while your mother lays the blame on me, you are a perfect lady, but when I get hitched for life--I want an orphan."

Memories of Grandma

(Sophronia Haswell Campbell)

By Margaret (Campbell) Hagerty

In the spring she loved going for a walk and would bring back the biggest bouquet of the largest and velvet like dandelions she could find. She would put them in a quart sized jar and they were placed on our round dining room table. She didn't bother with the scrunty type we kids picked. Hers were beautiful!

Later it was hard for her to get around. Sometimes she went to church with us-Children's Day program or some other special occasion. She always had a black satin dress to wear on these occasions and it was fun to fix her hair. In the summer we could take her outside to wash her hair and set it. It was a beautiful glistening sight.

At bedtime when I helped her get settled for the night, she loved to talk about when whe was young. She told of walking the woods and finding a beautiful glass in a trash pile and after bringing it home her mean old step-father made her take it all the way back where she found it. She called him "Skinflint". I thought that was his real name. Later found out his real name. Another time she told how she curled her hair (with a curling iron heated in a lamp chimney). She had forty curls and climbed down a ladder from her upstairs bedroom to elope. Her mean old step-father had objected to her getting married.

Another time she told how if a young man wanted to walk you home from church, he would put his arm out with his hand on his hip and if you would like to accept, you put your arm through his. Oh, at times it was so interesting, the things she would tell me. Then she would drift off to sleep and I could go upstairs. Dad used to ask "What did Maw tell you tonight?"

She stayed with us during the summer months. Then on June 1, 1934 Daddy went to Aunt Mary's (we called her Lizzie until she told us her name was Mary Elizabeth) but it was too hot that day to move her. Daddy had our Dr. go to check on her. He went to see how she was and stopped at our place to say it would be better to bring her in the evening when it was cooler. Around suppertime that evening Herman brought his mother to tell us the sad news that she had gone to be with Jesus. Her favorite song of many was "The Old Rugged Cross".

Christmas In Old Steuben

By Dorothy (Brandeberry) Maxton

I have some very fond memories of the Christmases we had when I was a small child. My Grandmother was a widow lady and after the children were established in homes of their own, they sold Grandma's home. Each one agreed to keep Grandma 2 months and she was a guest in our home until the next one came for her.

Where ever Grandma happened to be at Christmas time, that's where the Christmas Dinner would be. Each place was a different chapter. When we were at Aunt Clara's, she always treated us with candy bars left over from the summer months when she and Uncle Fred ran a recreation center on Hamilton Lake called Circle Park. To youngsters now days a candy bar wouldn't mean so much, but to us that little wrapped morsel of goodness was a great treat. All we had was home made fudge and popcorn at our home.

At Aunt Florence's we had such deep snow no one could go any where in a car. There was no road equipment to clear the snow, so it was back to the horses. Dad got out the bobsled, put lots of clean straw in the bottom. While Mom was fixing a basket of food, the soapstones were heating in the oven. Soon as we were ready to go Dad put the horse blanket on top of the straw, we all set down on the blanket next to the warm soapstone, with another blanket over our laps and we had it made! On accasions like this Dad always put the sleigh bells on the horses and we went merrily along. Our noses would be as red as Rudolph's but who cared, it was Christmas and we were going to Aunt Florence's to see Grandma.

Uncle Hugh bought Grandma's home, so it was like going home for all the children when they had the Christmas Dinner. We didn't have TV or radio for entertainment in those days, we had to create our own. While our Mothers were helping finish dinner, my cousins and I went up stairs and got some entertainment together for the afternoon. We didn't have any script writers, everything was ad-libbed. We had quite a concoction of Christmas Carols, little bits of Christmas Cantatas which we had learned for our Church Programs. Being from the different churches we had quite a selection to draw from. We always had the nativity scene, with last years scantily clad doll wrapped in a blanket, playing the part of Baby Jesus. There was usually some heated arguments as to who got to play the important part of the Virgin Mary, but we had to hog-tie one of the boys to play Joseph. After dinner, and before the gift exchange, the adults had to suffer through our master piece and then pretend they liked it by applauding.

Uncle Mitchell managed the County Home so it was quite an experience to go there. Besides our family gathering, Aunt Verl had to prepare the dinner for all the inmates, which numbered in the 20's. It was such a large dining room it overwhelmed me as a child. We enjoyed making friends with all the guests that lived there. Sometimes there was a bit of discord among them which was natural when you consider they all came from different walks of life. I think it was our gain to share our Christmas with them.

The year my Mother had Grandma with us, we had a big snow, then on top of that we had a sleet storm that made it impossible to get to our house. But we weren't to be beat out of our Christmas. Our dear horse Pat had cork shoes on so she wouldn't slip on the ice and Dad hitched her to the sleigh. With lots of blankets and the soapstones, my brother and I took off for Metz to do our Christmas shopping. After being snowbound for over a week, just getting out was an occasion. Meager as they were, we found gifts for the whole family. Strange as it may seem, there were 2 grocery stores, hardware, post office, drug store, meat market, bank, barber shop, mill and cream station in Metz at that time.

We went home, with sleigh bells jingling, feeling like a King and Queen after our excursion and the next day our family had a wonderful Christmas, even if the rest of the family couldn't come. Grandma used to say: "It's the little things that mean a lot."

By Dorothy (Brandeberry) Maxton

Warren Brandeberry

Warren E. Brandeberry was born December 24, 1917 in Richland Township, Steuben County Indiana, the son of Jesse and Mary Elizabeth Campbell Brandeberry.

He grew up around Metz, Indiana, and most of his school years were spent at Metz School, where he graduated in 1936.

Those were depression years and there just weren't any jobs to be found. Therefore Warren helped his father on the farm and picked up little jobs to make spending money. He had part time work in filling stations when he was needed. He also drove Senator Willis's car for him when he was running for a second term of office. Warren liked adventure, so when it was wheat harvest time in Texas, he packed a small bag and went hitch-hiking to Texas. There he worked in the wheat fields until harvest was over. Another time he went to Ft. Morgan, Colorado to try his hand working on a large cattle ranch owned by a cousin. The job just didn't work out, Warren wasn't a "natural-born" cowboy.

In the meantime war clouds were brewing in Europe. On May 13,1941 Warren was inducted into the army at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana. He was assigned to the Fourth Armored Division and trained as an Automotive Mechanic 014 at Pine Camp, New York and then sent to California for more training.

ON December 29, I943, Warren was shipped overseas destination: E.T.O. He arrived there January 8, 1944.

Warren participated in the battle campaigns at Normandy, Northern France, Ardennes and Rhineland.

The Normandy battle occured, June 6, 1944, and was one of the decisive battles of World War II.

The Ardennes was the scene of the famous Ardennes break through in December of 1944 during World War II. The Adrennes is a region of mountains and forests which extend from Northern France into Belgium and Luxembourg. This region was the scene of the battle commonly known as the Battle of the Bulge. The men fighting in this campaign suffered many hardships which were compounded by the cold winter weather.

Knowing how susceptible Warren had been to pneumonia when he was growing up, I worried about his bad colds that winter. I sent him as many home remedies as I could, along with food and letters of encouragement.

The Rhineland was fought March 8, I945 and was aided by General Patton. Finally, May 7, I945 Germany surrendered unconditionally.

Then on October 4, 1945 Warren departed for the United States. He arrived on October 13 and was given an honorable discharge at the Separation Center, Camp Atterbury, Indiana on October 18, I945. Warren left the Army a Technician Fifth Class with several citations including: E.A.M.B. Theater Ribbon with five Bronze Stars, American Defense Service Medal, Good Conduct Medal, and Distinguished unit Citation per GO #95 Hq. E.T.O., USA/45.

Warren arrived home after his tour of duty to a happy family. After a well deserved rest, he applied for work with International Harvester Co. In doing so, he had to get a physical. The doctor discovered Warren had tuberculosis which was thought to have been caused by his tour of duty in the Ardennes Campaign. The doctor gave Warren a choice, he could to Irene Byron Hospital or go to Arizona for it's dry hot climate. Warren chose the latter and lived there one year and came home cured.

He joined his brother Herman doing construction work and made it his life profession. You can name almost any large building in Fort Wayne and they worked on it; the Coliseum, hospitals, bank buildings, churches, industrial buildings, bridges, filtration plants, shopping centers and malls. They worked on all parts of these projects from building the foundation until the job was finished. Part of the time they worked with the Hagerman Construction Co. of Ft. Wayne.

On November 22, 1946 Warren was married to Dorothy Miller of Edon, Ohio. They had two children, Sharon, now of Angola, Indiana, and Gary Lee, now of Kirksville, Missouri. Warren and Dorothy lived most of their lives in Scott Township, Steuben County, Indiana.

He died in his home March 5, 1981 at the age of 63 and was interred in the South Scott Cemetery, Steuben County, Indiana.

Warren was a member of the American Legion Post 231, the V.F.W. and the Masonic Lodge, Hamilton, Indiana.

In loving memory, this was written by his sister, Mrs. Dorothy (Brandeberry) Maxton.

Phyllis Elaine Campbell Shook Rockey Horn was the 7th child of Hugh and Sylvia Campbell. She was to have been christened Mark Allen Campbell, due the usual consistent pattern of progressive gender they had grown to expect. Breaking the chain, Phyllis emerged into the world in her own unique way. This all transpired on March 30, 1927, at home at the "Old Campbell Farm" on Fish Creek, at Metz. Phyllis lived in Indiana in the Tri-State area for the first 38 years of her life. She graduated from Metz High School in 1945, during World War II. Married Donald Rex Shook, from Montgomery, MI in 1946, and that marriage ended in divorce in 1949, the same year her first child, Lucretia Faye Shook was born. She then married a local man Walter Rockey, Jr., in 1950. To this union were born 5 children, Lee Otis, April Elaine, Willa Darlene, Rachel Renee and William Allen. This marriage ended with the death of Walter Rockey, Jr. in 1964 at the "Old Rockey Farm" on Dunham Road in York Township, where Jr. had served as Township Trustee, and administrator of the Dunham Hand Estate. He was age 39 and Phyllis was 37. Phyllis reportedly turned gypsy, as she married the traveling man, Ben Ellis Horn in 1965. The only man brave enough to take on a family of 6 children that were not his own, and still send support money to 4 children from a previous marriage. The family journeyed to California in Feb. 1966, returning to Indiana in September 1966. In December 1966, William Allen Rockey was taken from the family by an accidental gunshot wound. One week later, almost to the hour, Jack Douglas Horn was born to Phyllis and Ben Horn. It was expressed to Phyllis by well-meaning people, that Jack had been sent to take Billy's place, but they did not realize that there is no one that can ever fill the cavity left in Phyllis's heart by the loss of her precious Billy.

Following Billy's death the family moved to Macon, GA in a rural area around Lizella. Due to Ben's employment with Lehigh Design, New York NY the family moved about a lot. From Macon to Gadsden, AL to Doraville GA and intermittingly in and out of Indiana, finally ending up in Athens, TN where Ben took employment as supervisor at Midland-Ross and quit Lehigh. The family had dwindled down somewhat by then. Lee and Lucretia were living in Angola, IN, April and Willa in Atlanta GA, Jimmy Horn and Glenna in Ohio. At home were Rachel, Jack, Michael and Ricky. This was 1971.

Phyllis served in multiple church denominations as Church Pianist for over a period of 50 years, including churches in Indiana, Georgia, Alabama, and Tennessee, having started at age 13 to play for the adult church at Mt. Pleasant U.B. Church at East Metz, Indiana. She has also served a SS Teacher, Youth Temperance Council Director, Methodist Youth Fellowship Leader, Wednesday night Bible teacher. Taught in Bible Schools, worked with church orchestras, and Pastored a church in Athens, TN for 3 years, the Hephzibah Bride of Christ, on the corner of Hill and College. The family singers were known as the Singspirations, and performed on live TV, Channel 61, Chattanooga, every Sunday afternoon for one year, and also W.C.P.H. Radio, Etowah, TN every Sunday morning for one year with the Athens House of Prayer. Phyllis also became a licensed Real Estate Agent in Tennessee, and worked with Sue Elder Realtors in Athens and later Douglas Renner in Cleveland, TN having received her credits from Tennessee Wesleyan College in Athens.

Phyllis and Ben were divorced in 1983, and Phyllis returned to Indiana for 3 years. Indiana winters were too much for her to handle, and she returned to Athens, TN in 1988. She worked with the Developmentally Handicapped Adults for 4 years and also taught basic piano and organ. She is, at the time of this printing, engaged in Telemarketing for a cemetery; and at the age of 64, she jokingly says she is still looking for "Mr. Right"!!

REMEMBER WHEN?

By Phyllis Campbell Horn

We used to make the "Indiana Winters" more tolerable by enjoying evenings at home making homemade ice cream. I especially recall an evening which stands out above a lot of others, due to a new "Taste Sensation" created by Louise, when she, by mistake, took out the bottle of Watkins Liniment instead of the vanilla flavoring and stirred it in the ice cream. Herman Wilson and another friend stopped by that evening to see Dad, and Dad offered them some of our home made ice cream. I recall Herman saying "This is the first ice cream I ever had that cooled you off and warmed up at the same time." The best part of this story is that the story saved the day for me in 4th grade that week. I was to have kept a diary for one week as an assignment for English class, and I had forgotten all about it. It was the day to turn them in before I realized it. But, then, I remembered the ice cream. Now, Edgar Willenar was my teacher, and he knew the Ingram family well, and, therefore he knew Louise, as she had worked for the Ingrams. When he read my made up diary, he rocked with laughter, and gave me an A!!!

Like the Waltons, we Campbells have our share of home memories for sure. Even the "Goodnight Elizabeth" reminds me of home. Before we had electricity in the house, we had kerosene lamps. At night, we children had one kerosene lamp that was placed in the doorway between the upstairs bedrooms. On this particular night, eldest brother Donnell, began singing "No more money in the bank, no more babies for to spank, what's to do about it ? Let's turn out the lights and go to sleep!", and with this suggestion, younger brother James, climbed out of bed, ran to the lamp, and blew it out. The room was suddenly very dark, and James began to cry from fright, and Donnell had to get back up and light the lamp, but not until after we had all had a good laugh.

There are fond memories of milk cans filled with apples carefully wrapped in newspaper to insure they would last all winter. A large bowlful would be brought up from the cellar to enjoy while we played checkers, dominoes, authors, or old maid. (Mom would not allow a real deck of cards in the house). And there was the Maple Sugar Candy, and the taffy pulls whenever the syrup wouldn't go to sugar. Dad loved his sweets and we all had a sweet tooth, it seemed. (And, yes, our share of toothaches). How I loved Mom's homemade bread, cinnamon rolls, cakes, cookies, and pies. Seems like Mom always kept something baked up for us in those days.

When all the "married" children would gather in on Sunday's, it was always a full house. I recall how Donnell and Leeta and Louise and Willis would stuff themselves with Mom's wonderful food, then exit to the old house across the road from the home place to weigh themselves on Dad's scales he kept in the old house. (At least, that is what they told us kids). Ah well, I could carry on for hours, but I guess I should let someone else give their interpretation of the Waltons, (whoops) Campbells!

I recall some of the wonderful times we had when Mom and Dad entertained the Sunday School Class at our home. One night in particular stands out in my mind. The usual patter of visiting and eating were in progress, when one of the women spied a mouse, and all "hell" broke loose, as the men grabbed brooms and whatever they could find to get that mouse, while Nellie Brooks got up on a chair, and Eva Kogin stood jumping up and down, and lifting her skirt, and screaming! What wonderful excitement for we kids fortunate to have been there that evening.

Another time when the men were in charge of refreshments, they had a big lard can on the stove boiling oysters, It seems that Lester Lechleidner was the "chief" cook in charge. It was such fun to slip through the kitchen, on the pretense of having to go upstairs, and listen to those men talking and having such a good time cooking those oysters.

There was always so many good times when Mom and Dad had Sunday Company, and we could sneak in on the interesting conversations of the adults. Mom loved to entertain. She was always inviting the Preachers and Evangelists to dine at our house. Once she kept a lady Evangelist, there for revival at Mt. Pleasant Church, in our home for almost 2 weeks. This lady even preached against girls wearing a ribbon in their hair. I must say, that was a most miserable week for me, but in later years I came to understand why this lady was so obsessed with the OUTWARD appearance. She really meant well, and was sincere in her endeavor. I remember Mom offered this lady an apron to wear, as she insisted on helping, the apron was white with large red polka dots. It just lit up this woman's plain attire. Mom noticed, and asked the question as to why she didn't wear a little red? She halted in her answer, and it was obvious that Mom had hit on something very personal. The lady related as to how when she was a very young girl that she loved red so much, that one day she got herself a complete red outfit and went to the Fair. While at the Fair, a man was "crying" at his stand, soliciting volunteers for a trick he wanted to show the crowd. Spying her in her red outfit, he had called out for that little lady in red to step up here. She said she had felt so cheap, and ashamed, that she never wore red again. Well, it took me a few years to get her drift, but I finally figured it all out. Mom had attempted to help her see that she had bound herself unfairly, but, this lady was staunch in her convictions. Years later I had the opportunity to see this woman again, and I nearly fell off my chair, as the lady was all fixed up, and looked real nice. I think my Mother must have prayed for that girl to be released from her self imposed bondage.

Another Thing That Comes To Mind . . .

It was a great thrill to me to find a person that actually knew my grandfather, William Allen Campbell, and my Great-Uncles Jim and John Campbell. For those who may share my enthusiasm, I submit this tale told to me by Old "Grandad" Sam McDonald, a relative of the Ferrier family at Metz, Indiana.

Sam related this incident to me:

It was at Edon, Ohio, on the 4th of July. The town was busy with celebration! A flag pole proudly displayed "Old Glory" waving in the wind. However, the flag pole had been determined to be unsafe. Therefore all were advised to stay clear of it. Now "Bill" Campbell, being a man with a sense of humor, and his better judgment clouded with alcoholic spirits, persisted in standing under the flag pole to get the people to gasp in horror at his foolishness, in spite of repeated warnings from the Town Constable. Not wanting to spoil the day for others, the Constable took Bill's wife aside, and told her that she would have to get Bill out of town or else he'd have to arrest him. (Now Bill's wife was my Grandmother, Sophronia Haswell Campbell, and "Bill" was my Grandfather William Allen Campbell). Sam said it was the funniest sight he had ever seen when Sophronia cracked those horses and left town with "Bill" in the wagon, in a cloud of dust.

Another incident Sam told me about:

Another time found the Campbell Brothers celebrating on a Saturday night in Edon, Ohio, as Jim and John were walking down the streets a little inebriated, Jim, feeling "Macho", pulled off his hat as he passed a plate glass window, placing the hat over his hand, he proceeded to bust out the window with his fist. Let's hope that he replaced it when he sobered up!!!

"Not as though I had already attained, either were already perfect; but I follow after, if that I may apprehend that for which I am apprehended of Christ Jesus. Brethren, I count myselt to have apprehended; but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus." Phil.3:12-14

"Knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the law; for by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified. I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me; and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me." Gal. 16 & 20.

"For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him, should not perish, but have everlasting life." John 3:16

"Pilate therefore said unto him, art thou a king then?" Jesus answered, "Thou sayest tha I am a king. To this end was I born and for this cause came I into the world, that I should bear witness unto the truth. Everyone that is of the truth heareth my voice." John 19:37

"Yet a little while, and the world seeth me no mpre but ye shall see me; because I live, ye shall live also. Peace I leave with you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid." Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me. I am the WAY, the TRUTH, and the LIFE: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me." John 14:19,27,1 & 6.

"Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ. For in him dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily. And ye are complete in him, which is the head of all principality and power: In whom also ye are circumcised with the circumcision made without hands, in putting off the body of the sins of the flesh by the circumcision of Christ. Buried with him in baptism, wherein also ye are risen with him through the faith of the operation of God, who hath raised him from the dead." Col. 2:8-12.

"But he that doeth wrong shall receive for the wrong which he hath done: and there is no respect of persons." Col. 3:25

This is my testimony I leave with you.

Growing up on the Farm ...

by Jessie (Campbell) Dove

In looking back over the years, and realizing what freedom and adventures we had at our disposal, it makes me aware of how rich we were. The time and space for growing and learning. I remember the long walks by the creek that ran through the farm. Listening to the birds and watching the turtles and frogs scamper into the water, as I came near, always alert, for the slithering snakes that would poke their heads out of holes, or hang from the bushes. There were wild flowers to wonder at. How they could grow in all that shade. The skunk cabbage, Johnny-jump-ups and jack-o-lanterns, galore. The creek bottom was my favorite place. Just to sit and listen to the water splashing over the rocks, was my music to dream by. I remember too, old Fanny and Babe, those gentle horses Dad let me drive. They'd stand grazing on the grasses. But when the other team ventured near, I knew it was time to leave. I didn't trust that pair.

There was time too for playing ball. We were always thrilled when Dad would take time to play a few minutes with us. Brother Bill and I got into trouble each time we ran off to play ball with the Noll brothers. But it was worth it, as we really enjoyed playing with them. Having spent so much time with Bill, as my play-mate, losing him was like losing a part of me. I was eleven at the time, and I know the things I did shocked the family. But I needed to be near Bill, and I felt near to him wearing his clothes. Thank goodness, Mom seemed to understand. It did help me through that loss. It was at that time, that I realized Dad no longer had the help he needed in the hay field. So I started riding along on the wagon when they made hay. I can remember telling Dad that I would try to help him, that I could drive the team to load the hay. He looked down at me and smiled, and handed me the reins. I was so happy, I couldn't have loved him more. To know he did want my help. Gosh, me a girl, getting to help him! As time went by and I grew stronger I found out what hard work it all was. Days in the hay mow, mowing away hay was no picnic. Dad and I would take turns pitching hay up from the wagon and mowing it away. Brother Bob and I worked the same way, only we did it Bob's way when Dad had something else to do. Bob taught me how to mow hay. How to lift the cutting bar over stones and the right way to turn a corner. I also had to learn just how far to drive the horses to lift the hay fork into the barn, full of hay. Then, it was bring the horses back, pull the rope back through the pully so the fork could be used again. When we got the tractor, it was somewhat easier, didn't have to worry about the horses getting tangled up in the rope. It was while raking hay that I learned that snakes could stand on their tail. It came as quite a shock to see one standing up in the hay row as I was turning it over. Needless to say, I got my feet as high as I could while driving the tractor over it. Even though it was hard work, I did enjoy it. To be out doors and not stuck in the house was a delight to me. I didn't escape it all, for come August, Mom let me know it was time to come in to sew school clothes. Phyllis would usually pick out the material and patterns, and I got to cut and sew. By the time I was ten, I found I could sew. We, Phyllis and I, had received dolls for Christmas. I wanted mine to look different, so I made, what we now call pants suits, for my doll, with stitched creases, to make it looked pressed at all times. Mom had watched me now and then at her sewing machine. I guess I must have been doing things right as she didn't tell me to get away from her machine. When I was finished, she said if I could sew that well, I could be making some pants for Jim. Jim sure had some colorful pants to wear, as I used whatever was available. Finally Mom gave me some good white material to use, so Jim had his first pair of white long pants to wear to Church on Sunday. So after that when it come time to sew, I was Mom's helper. Mom always called Phyllis and I her twins, so it was always two dresses alike. I must say Phyllis always looked nice in those dresses. As for me, I always felt like an idiot, especially in the sleeveless ones, that left my half tanned arms looking ridiculous.

I learned how to split wood, feed chickens, fill the lamps with oil, and the gas lamp with gas and how to pump it, to make it work. I also learned there was a paying job--cleaning the chicken coop! I didn't earn much.

I leaned to drive on the tractor, and Bob's 34 Ford, which he would let me drive to the house from the field. Dad even let me drive the little Willys, back from the old Gill farm, ONE time!

And all that time I thought, boy those kids in town sure have a lot more fun than we do. But, they didn't have their own creek to swim in, or the hills to slide down in the winter time, or our winter wonder land park, with the ice benches around the trees, that was so beautiful in the moon light. And best of all, water from the northeast corner of the well. If you threw enough buckets of water away, you would get to the northeast corner where the good cool water came from, so Daddy said!

Being a middle child had it's advantages too. You could learn from the older ones, I got to tag along with Louise on her first dates, make a lot of noise while Donnell was doing chores, to entertain his girl friend. Watch Margaret set Grandmas hair and how Bob pressed his pants, which he later paid me to do. Yes, what could be better than to be a Campbell kid, growing up on the farm.

Grampa and Gramma Dove

In the age of recycling and compositing I'd like to give a hand to the older generation and especially to my Grampa and Gramma Dove. They've been doing it forever. Before it even had a name or was "in style".

They have always had a separate special trash can for "compost gold" (vegetable peelings, eggshells, coffee grinds, etc.) They've always saved grass clippings and composted them or took them to someone who did. To this day they still do. Now they bring them to our farm and drop them off and we compost them. Grampa and Gramma saved and resued almost everything. If it could serve to be used as something else---it was saved. Even metal coffee cans were used to store things in, or for us grand kids to use our imagination with.

They gave us appreciation of nature also by having us help plant and care for trees and bushes for beauty, shading and privacy.

They've always fed the birds (even taught us the names of them), the bunnies, stray cats, too. We were always included and enjoyed helping.

Our grandparents have given and taught us so much and they are so loved and appreciated. Thanks Grampa and Gramma Dove---for everything, especially for all the wonderful memories and good habits you've given us.

Love and smiles forever, Cheri Dove Squier.

William C. Campbell

William Clarence, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Campbell, was born August 19, 1922 near Metz, Indiana and departed this life at his home on August 7, I937, aged 14 years 11 mo. 19 days. Billie, as he was known to his many friends, attended grade school at Metz and took a very active part in the athletic activities of his group, especially in basketball.

His courage was never failing, meeting every obstacle uncomplainingly and with patience. Even in his last illness, altho it was but a few days, his intense suffering was born patiently.

Billie's greeting to one and all was his cheery smile.

He accepted Jesus as his Savior in 1932 and was a member of the Mt. Pleasant U.B. Church. He was baptized Aug. 6, 1933 by his pastor, Rev. Ralph Morse. He was very regular in his attendance at Sunday School, and acted as usher for church services having but recently been re-elected. On Wednesday evening before he became ill he was present at prayer meeting.

This noble boy has been called from the labor of this world to serve his Maker in that heavenly kingdom. He leaves to mourn their loss his mother, father, 4 brothers: Donnell, Robert, James and John, 4 sisters: Louise, Margaret, Jessie and Phyllis, one sister-in-law: Leeta, one grandmother: Laura Richardson and a large circle of relatives and friends.

Finding the reason people came to this country in it's infancy, you can come up with a number of reasons --- gaining religious freedom, business reasons, chance to start over in new surroundings, being sent here as an undesirable, etc.

As we look into our Campbell Family and their reasons to come, we can gain some insight by checking the many passenger lists of the ships that brought the settlers to this country. We noticed that many of the Campbells came as endentured servants, they came without money and owing for their passage here, pledging to work once here to pay for their fare. The average time was about four years to cover passage cost.

Arriving with no money they naturally tried to find work without traveling very far, so most looked for jobs along the east coast. Those who had money usually had some acquaintance here and went farther west immediately. They say the Germans that came over here were usually wealthy and purchased land in Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Our family, as we know it, was mostly farmers or hired help, so we can assume they were probably among those coming with very little, if any, money. There were a few ministers and doctors among those early Campbell arrivals. However, we do know Hannah Ball was born in Virginia and that James Mitchell Campbell was born in Pennsylvania. They moved to Ohio and lived there for some time, moving on to Indiana, in DeKalb County. We also know that they were farmers, as was William Allen Campbell, who purchased land in Steuben County, Richland Township, Indiana. This was an original Government Land Grant, and was known as the Old Campbell Homestead.

Sinclair - Haswell Ancestry

Our ancestors were pioneers. The history started by my father and continued by me, and brought out for distribution at the family reunion at my home in 1939, pertained principally to the Haswell-Mathews families. My father in his notes tells of his grandfather, a soldier in the British Army met and married a Miss Sinclair. Through accident I obtained a copy of the history of the Sinclair family, published in 1896. In this history was printed a story of Molly Sinclair who married Elijah Haswell. It tells a story often told to us youngsters when we visited Aunt Chloe of her grandmother who had killed a bear that was after her pigs, with a blow from the butt of a musket. This history tells the story of the ancestors of the Sinclairs from the eighth century in Europe to the time of this history, prepared in 1896. The Sinclairs were a titled family in Scotland. The landed estates were left to the oldest child and the younger children had to have other sources of income to live on. The imigrants to the new America were generally from this class of people who turned to this new source where they could live their own lives. One of these was the first ancestor of the Sinclairs in America. John Sinclair settled in New Hampshire in 1658, acquiring land and establishing a home where he raised a family of two sons and three daughters. One of the sons, Samuel married Sarah Matoon and their son Richard was born 1740. He had served in the Colonial and Indian Wars and was called Colonel. He was a carpenter and millwright. He dealt largely in real estate, owned mills and cut timber on the scene. He was active in politics leading to the coming American Revolution. He was captain in the Continental Army, March 6, 1776. In 1780 he commanded a company in Colonel Bartlett's regiment which was raised in New Hampshire for the defense of Ticonderago Fortress in June of that year. This regiment was dismissed on Oct. 27, 1780, and he returned to his home in Barnstead, NH. It was during this period that Benedict Arnold attempted to betray West Point to the enemy. Captain Richard was made Major of the 10th New Hampshire Regiment Nov. 3, 1780. Richard was the father of nine children. One of these, Samuel, born in Nottingham, NH, May 10, 1762. The following is a condensed story of his life. His opportunity to acquire an education was limited, his father was a farmer, carpenter and millwright, and without question his early life was spent in these employments, and thus he acquired a knowledge of mechanics and a useful trade. This was the foundation and secret of success in his later life. The Revolutionary War was opening when he had reached his thirteenth year. Too young to enlist as a soldier, he attended his uncle, Colonel Joseph Cilley, as a servant for a year, then he enlisted as a soldier in the First NH Regiment which had been re-organized by his Uncle, who commanded it for four years of active and ardous service during the most trying period of the War, and in its most important battles and campaigns. Our ancestor Samuel Sinclair, enlisted for three years in this regiment into a company commanded by Capt. Amos Morrill, June 20, 1777, mustered into service July 1st. He was fourteen years old. His company served in many important battles. The first battle of Stillwell on Sept. 19, 1777, the battle of Saratoga Oct. 7, 1777. In this battle, Ebenezer, Samuel's cousin was killed. Samuel's brothers, Bradbury and John were in this battle, also. The regiment of New Hampshire troops moved steadily up the slope toward the British Grenadiers who stood in bold relief with their bayonets glistening in the sun. Samuel was in the center of the front rank. The first discharge of musketry passed harmlessly over the heads of the Americans who rushed forward and gained the eminence. Ten days later the enemy surrendered and the regiment moved slowly southward to join General Washington's army into winter quarters at Valley Forge. The sufferings of the soldiers were intense, and many soldiers died. Samuel's brother Bradbury among them. The regiment participated in many important battles with the British and in fighting uprisings of the Indians roused by the British. After three years of ardent service to his country, Samuel was mustered out April 6, 1780. He and brother John returned to Barnstead, NH. After spending some time there, he went to Vassalborough, Maine where he purchased land and built saw mills where he prepared ship timbers in 1788. He married Sally Perkins, Feb. 8, 1785. (she was born May 19, 1768, died at Eaton, New York May 15, 1804.) She was the mother of ten children, the eldest was Molly Sinclair, the mother of Hezron Haswell. Samuel was the father of 17 children, ten by his first wife Sally, and seven by his second, a widow Fanny Bigelow Edson. Learning a trade, he accumulated wealth for he was a good business man. A pioneer, having faith in the country he fought for, he went to Madison, NY where he became a builder and operated mills. He bought and sold real estate. He bought several thousand acres of land in the newly opened settlement in western New York. He took his large family and settled on this land. He laid out a town which is still in existance, Sinclairville, in Chataqua County, NY, on his land. He was a Mason and established a lodge of which he was its first Master. He was influential in politics and was made a Major in the New York Militia, by Governor Jay. He died Feb. 8, 1827 and is burried in the cemetery that he donated to the town. The difficulties of travel were great. It took a month to travel to their new home, having to make roads through the dense forests. Families did not visit as now and trace of them was lost. For instance--Hezron Haswell with family moved to Eastern Ohio, then to DeKalb Co., Indiana, his brother Solomon went to Fort Wayne where he operated a cooperage. Two of his sisters settled in Hillsdale County, Michigan. An uncle of theirs moved to Ft. Wayne, where he became well known and raised a family. The uncle, Joseph Sincalir, died in Fort Wayne in 1854 from cholera. He and his children are buried in Lindenwood Cemetery, near the entrance. Joseph was active in politics and was United States Indian Agent who arranged for the movement of the Miami and Potawatomi Indians to the Indian Territory, now Oklahoma. Joseph's son, Samuel went to New York and studied law, going back to Fort Wayne to practice law. He became well known as a lawyer and was active in politics, being elected as a State Representative for Allen County and was a Judge of the Circuit Court. It is strange that I or my sisters remember of our parents or Uncle Solomen mentioning a relationship, though it existed as shown in the Sinclair family history. Three of the SInclair girls were teachers in the Fort Wayne schools. I can see here the difficulties of travel and communication would lead to situations as above.

Carlyle Seiple

H. Carlyle Seiple was born in Hillsdale County, Michigan on July 9, 1915 to Earl D. Seiple and Hazel B. Beem Seiple, the second son of four children. He attended elementary school eight years at the Carter one room school 1 1/2 miles west of Hillsdale, Mi. He attended Hillsdale High School, graduating in 1935. He married Loraine Ruth Null November 23, 1935. She died March 29, 1990. They had two children, Duane Carlyle, born December 21, 1939 and daughter Marilyn Frances born April 7, 1941. He was converted in the Hillsdale United Brethren Church under the ministry of Rev. M. E. Burkett. He was employed in a clothing factory in Hillsdale as a fur cutter, cutting sheep skin linings for coats for several years until World War II began. He then entered a machine shop and worked until VJ Day. He then started in a printing shop shortly after the war ended, as a "Printers Devil" (apprentice printer). He entered the ministry in 1950 and served the Corunna Church until 1953, when he enrolled in Huntington College to prepare for the ministry. He was employed at U.B. Publishing Establishment as a printer for two years, and graduated from college in 1957. He served as pastor of Rivarre Circuit for two years while finishing college. One year after graduation, he was elected to the Conference Superintendency in 1958 of Auglaize Conference United Brethren Church, which covered the south half of Ohio, serving in that office for nine years, plus. Major duties in that office was to begin new church congregations and help relocate small congregations to communities with more potential members.

He was appointed as business manager of the U.B. Publishing Establishment in Huntington and served for four and one half years.

He also served in the United Methodist Church in 1971 and served for ten years, part time, while starting a printing business in his home basement in 1971 and operated the shop until 1987, then sold the shop at retirement in 1987. He and M. Louise Campbell Lechleidner were married on November 2, I991. He has served the church in the ministry, and administrative duties for a total of thirty three years, both part time and full time.

Haswell Family Early History

At the time of the Norman conquest of England in 1066, surnames were not fully developed. The average man of that day just knew his neighbor by his first names, or if he knew more than one by the same name, they were described by where they come from or by their occupation.

William the Conquerer, who succeeded in having himself crowned King of all England after winning the battle of Senlac, ordered a census of the nation to determine what men were available and what resources could be taxed. This census is known as the "Doomsday Book".

In addition there is a record of Norman names of those who came over with the new King. With few exceptions, these records are the starting point in the study of English families. A search of both records disclose that the name of "Haswell" was not in use at that time.

About this time, however, a small group settled about eight miles west of Durham, just south of the border of Scotland. The place was called Hessewella, i.e. "The Hazel Spring". It is first mentioned in the old writings of the monasteries which were preserved by the monks.. Very few people could write in that day; in fact the monks almost had a monopoly of this art. They, however, often wrote by sound. This accounts for the various spellings used in their records of the name Haswell. For instance, we find the locality called Hessewella in 1131, Hessewelle in 1155, Hessewell in 1253, Hasewelle in 1243. In the year 1383 it was called "Haswell Grange". Later it was called "Great Haswell." In 1537, it was called "Haswell of the Hall".. Today it is still in existance and is known as Haswell.

The first evidence that the name was applied to a person was in 1180 when a monastery was founded by two brothers at his location. They were spoken of as Henrico and Ganfridys of Hessewell. Numerous mentions are made in the records of this monastery of the name Hessewell, up to the year 1457.. On July 12th of that year, the Bishop of the monastery died and one Alexander Haswell was named as his executor.

About 1500 the Parishes of England began keeping records of births, marriages, and burials. Many of these are in existance, though some were lost or destroyed in fires. These registers have many references to the name Haswell, though the spelling in some instances varies.

Most of these were in the vicinity of the original "Hessewella" though gradually spreading to other parts of England, Scotland and Ireland.

On May 3, 1641, the House of Commons required protestations of all the people to preserve the peace of England, Scotland and Ireland. There were eighteen Haswells who signed the list in the County of Durham..

Elijah Haswell was a soldier in the English army, stationed at Fort Niagara, Ontario, Canada before the War of 1812. Early in 1804 he married a Miss Sinclair and moved to Chataqua County, New York. There were twelve children born to them, Hezron Sinclair, Mahala, Esther, Mary Thursa, Sophia, Solomon P. and six of whom no record is found. A Miss Sinclair, who married Elijah Haswell was born in Vermont.

Alanson Mason Haswell, was born in Burma, the son of James M. a Baptist Missionary June 29, 1847. He came to the United States was was educated at Colgate University, married and settled in Missouri. He was a noted author, particularly of stories of the Ozark Mountains.

Susan Haswell was born in the house of America's first great missionary, Adoniram Judson, in Burma January 9, 1844. Her father, Rev. James M. Haswell, was Judson's assistant. She died June 10, 1923. Her life story was written by A.M. Haswell, her brother, was published by the "Board of Missionary" Cooperation of the Northern Baptist Convention, 152 Madison Avenue, New York City and is well worth reading.

Andrew Jordan Haswell, son of Henry M. was born in Granville County, N.C. July 2, 1864, moved with his parents to Missouri when about four years old, where he lived until 1889 when he made the land race to Oklahoma.

John Putman Haswell, an attorney, born in Hardinsburg, KY Oct. 7, l871. He achieved success in his profession and was the republican candidate for the office of united States Senator in the election of l938.

Several Haswells served in the Revolutionary War. Many served in the War of 1812. Many are listed as soldiers who served in the Civil War on both sides. Honorable mention was made of many Haswells who served in World War I.

A list of present day Haswells (1962) show about 150 names of those who live in Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, New York, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Maryland, Washington D.C. Connecticut, South Dakota, New Jersey, Ontario, Canada, Edmonton, Alberta,Saskatchewan, British Columbia.

Seventeen Haswells are listed in the Directory of London, England.

Anthony Haswell, the son of William and Elizabeth Haswell, was born in Portsmouth, England, April 6, 1756. With his father and an elder brother he arrived in Boston at the end of 1769. He was apprenticed to a potter. He witnessed the "Boston Massacre" on March 5, l770 and soon joined the "Sons of Liberty". He wrote some crude songs which were sung at their meetings. He probably took part in the "Boston Tea Party" on December 16, 1773. One of his songs led to his release from the apprenticeship to the potter and he became an apprentice to a printer. He served in the Revolutionary War 1776-77. Later he began writing and publishing books. He moved to Vermont in 1783. was appointed Post-Master General of Vermont, holding that position until 1791 when Vermont was admitted to the Union. He published books and pamphlets on various subjects. He wrote over 200. He had ten children by his first wife and seven by his second. One son, James, went to Burma as a missionary. His son James returned to Vermont, completing his education and returned to Burma in 1867 where he spent the rest of his life as a Baptist Missionary. Another son, Nathan, served in the was or 1812 and held many public offices. He was a Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Masons of Vermont. He died at Quincy, IL June 6, l855 and returned to Burlington, Vermont for burial with Masonic honors. Anthony Haswell died May 22, l816.

John Haswell was born in the town of Applby, County of Westmoreland, England, left for America prior to the revolution and settled first at Albany and later at Waterliet, New York. Died Sept. 22, 1808. Had seven children by first wife and eight by his second wife. Many of his descendents achieved note in politics and literature.

Charles Haynes Haswell was born in New York City May 22, l809. He was the son of Charles Haswell who came from Dublin, Ireland. Charles Haynes was a noted Civil Engineer, became famed as a Naval Engineer. The town of Haswell, Colorado was named in his honor. One of his sons was a Lieutenant Commander in the United States Navy.

Captain Robert Haswell, the son of William Haswell who had been in the English Navy, discovered the Columbia River in 1792. The river was named for his ship the "Columbia'". He sailed ten miles up river and proclaimed the territory which it drained as territory of the United States. Later, Captain Haswell sailed on the first American ship to circle the globe.

The census of Newport County, Rhode Island listed seven Haswell as heads of families. In Providence County, two were listed.

There are records of Haswells in Maryland in 1729, 1750, 1761.

Robert Haswell published the Gazette at Columbia, South Carolina. He died January 1, l792.

The family history of the brothers and sisters of Hezron S. Mathews and his wife Rocela Mathews, is not complete. Records show there were twelve chiildren born to Elijah Haswell and Sinclair. Hezron S., Mahala, Mary, Thursa, Esther, and Solomon P. are the only ones named in the records.

HEZRON SINCLAIR HASWELL FAMILY

Hezron Sinclair Haswell was born in Chautauqua County, New York State, May 5, 1805, the first child of Elijah Haswell, a soldier in the English army stationed at Fort Niagara, Ontario, Canada and a Miss Sinclair, who came from Vermont.

Hezron S. Haswell married Rocela Mathews, August 6, 1826, in Chatautauqua Co. She was born Jan. 11, 1811 in the same county. She died July 26, 1899, aged 88 years, 6 months, and 26 days in Troy Townsip, DeKalb County, IN and is buried in Leonard Cemetery. Hezron S. died Jan. 1, 1852 (see sketch of life of Hezron S. written by George I. Haswelll in 1896). Ten children were born to this union. Emmaline, a son who died at birth, Chloe, Mary, Lewis , Richmon, George Ianthus, Sarah, Samantha, Sophronia..

Sophronia Haswell was born Feb. 14, 1850 in Troy Township, DeKalb County, IN. Married to William Allen Campbell at same place on Aug. 4, 1875. He was born April 22, 1846. There were seven children, Viola, Clara Sedalia, Florence Ann, Mary Elizabeth, Mitchell Sinclair, Hugh Allen, and a still born son. William Allen died Feb. 6, 1893, Viola died Aug. 30, 1900, Sophronia died June 1, 1934.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF HEZRON HASWELL's FAMILY

Hezron S. Haswell became acquainted with Rocela Mathews in the year 1824 in Chatauqua County, New York State and was married August 6, 1826. One year and six days from their marriage there was a daughter born named Emmaline. As soon as circumstances permitted they moved to Portage County, Ohio where they lived seventeen years. While there Mr. Haswell worked at house and mill building. During these seventeen years the greater portion of their family was born. In the year 1843, he went to Indiana to find a location for a mill. He finally located in Troy Township, DeKalb County on Fish Creek. He built a log cabin and partly completed the mill. He returned late in the fall and reported where he had located. The nearest markets were Defiance, Ohio, thirty-five miles and Fort Wayne, forty miles The country was thinly settled, no roadways, only through the woods. Early in the spring of 1844 the family started for their new home, then called "way out west". He hired two teams to move his family. The writer cannot remember how long we were on the way, I being only four years old, but I can remember some of the happenings on the way and recollect how nice the wild flowers were in the woods near the house and the nice log house and mill. (The site of the old mill is now the property of a great-grandson, Clark Alwood.) After getting settled, he went to work to finish the mill which was a saw mill made after the old style with wood sash frame for up-right saw. A water wheel made of wood and all necessary gearing were wooden pins, used as cogs. He soon added a department for grinding corn, going to Defiance, Ohio for stone that he worked in shape to grind the grain. After the grinding department was in running order it had to run night and day as people came fifteen and twenty miles to get some corn ground. He and a man from Ohio named Perkins soon added another industry. They had a lathe and turned out wooden bowls and straight chairs which were readily sold for the new settlers were coming in fast. The business paid well but the high waters caused the dam to break too often and took about all he could make to keep it in repair, so after several years of hard work was compelled to give up and lost about all he had. At one time the mill was destroyed by fire, the rebuilding putting him heavily in debt.

After giving up the mill, he bought five acres of land from a corner of Samuel Leonard's farm. He built a fine hewed log house and a shop where he made wagons, etc. He also built houses and mills. In the year 1851 he built a flour mill on Fish Creek for a Mr. Casebeer, completing it in the late fall. Running the mill to test it, he worked in the water a great deal adjusting the water wheel and caught a severe cold from which he did not recover and died Jan. 1, 1852 at the age of forty years. He was buried in Troy Township, DeKalb County, IN in a cemetery on the Bellefountain Road off the Eddy farm. The writer of this record being only eleven years old at his fathers death, and mother left with a large family with small means of support. We as a family didn't have any amount of luxuries to speak of. It was patch upon patch, but by the use of the spinning wheel and the older girls knowing how to use them, mother managed to keep us until we could earn something for ourselves. The writer of this record is George Ianthus Haswell, first a laborer on a farm, then a cooper, a wagon maker, a grain cradle maker, a cabinet maker, then an organ maker, then manufacturing my patented Combination Child's chair at this time, 1896, present age 56 years.

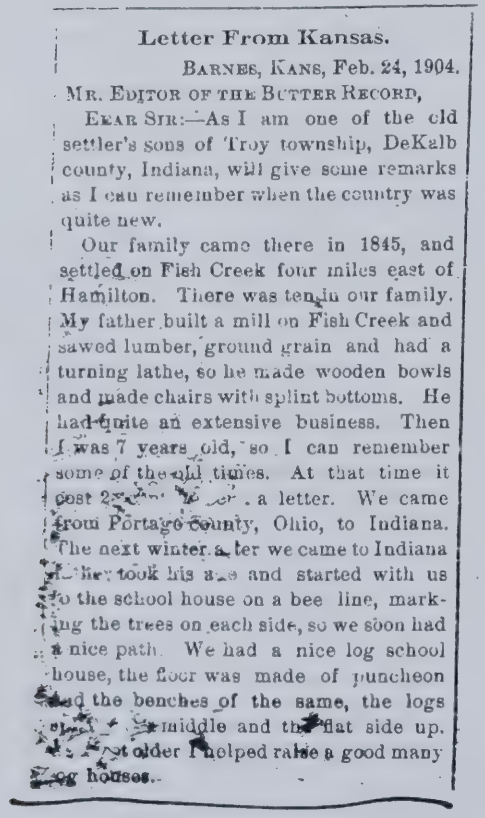
October 13, 1907 at this date I am sixty-seven years old. I sold out the chair factory and our old home, going back to the organ factory, now the Packard Piano Co. where I match the fine veneers they use. I now live in a nice home on five acres of land near the factory. George I. Haswell.

This is a news clipping I found of Mothers taken from an August 1940 newspaper: Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Campbell and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Brandeberry, Mr. and Mrs. Denver Maxton, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Somerlott and family, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Lechleidner and Beverly Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Alwood, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Alwood and Mary, attended the 50th annual reunion of the Haswell-Mathews families Sunday at the home of Mrs. Effie Russell, a cousin, of Winona Lake, IN. These along with 110 other cousins visited the Billy Sunday Tabernacle to view the beautiful painting in the large auditorium. This beautiful painting is the largest continuous painting in the United States, measuring 59 feet in length. It is a semi-tropical scene and required 54 hours to complete. By the use of lights one is taken through the day, sunset and early twilight, and a sweet feeling of peace falls upon one and one almost expects to see the Savior walking in the beautiful garden. The artist, George A. Haswell, is a nephew of the late Sophronia Haswell Campbell of this place (Metz) His father, George Ianthus Haswell of Fort Wayne, IN and the other brother of Sophronia Haswell Campbell was a skilled workman in many lines, a cooper a wagon maker, grain cradles, cabinet maker, organ builder. He served three Years in the Civil War, George Alman, the son and artist, was born in Fort Wayne, IN Sept. 6, 1886 and like his father he is a skilled workman in many different lines. Fifty-four years old and a handsome bachelor. (Written by Louise Campbell Lechleidner.)



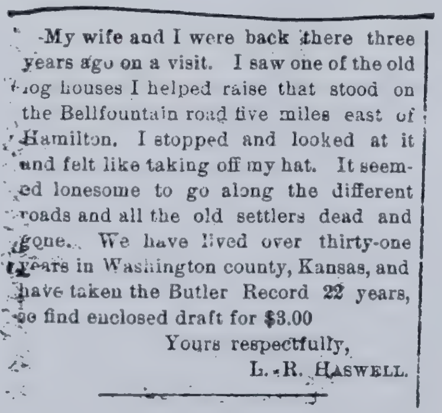
Letter From Kansas.

BARNES, KANS, Feb. 24, 1904.

MR. EDITOR OF THE BUTTER RECORD,

EEAR SIR:—As I am one of the old settler's sons of Troy township, DeKalb county, Indiana, will give some remarks as I can remember when the country was quite new.

Our family came there in 1845, and settled on Fish Creek four miles east of Hamilton. There was ten in our family. My father built a mill on Fish Creek and sawed lumber, ground grain and had a turning lathe, so he made wooden bowls and made chairs with splint bottoms. He had quite an extensive business. Then I was 7 years old, so I can remember some of the old times. At that time it cost 2[illegible] a letter. We came from Portage county, Ohio, to Indiana. The next winter after we came to Indiana father took his axe and started with us to the school house on a bee line, marking the trees on each side, so we soon had a nice path. We had a nice log school house, the floor was made of puncheon and the benches of the same, the logs [illegible] middle and the flat side up. [illegible] older I helped raise a good many log houses.



My wife and I were back there three years ago on a visit. I saw one of the old log houses I helped raise that stood on the Bellfountain road five miles east of Hamilton. I stopped and looked at it and felt like taking off my hat. It seemed lonesome to go along the different roads and all the old settlers dead and gone. We have lived over thirty-one years in Washington county, Kansas, and have taken the Butler Record 22 years, so find enclosed draft for $3.00

Yours respectfully,
L. R. HASWELL.

PIKES PEAK OR BUST

The following account is from notes made by Sylvia Campbell on the trip she and Hugh took with Fred and Clara Enfield. She kept the record with a lead pencil in note books 2 1/2" X 3". Some of the words were difficult to read. We tried to follow the route on a map to be sure we named the correct cities. It is as accurate as we could be.

August 20, 1935

We left Fish Creek Flats August 20, l935 for Fort Morgan, Colorado, drove 224 miles till noon--stopped 2 miles out of Seneca, Il for chicken dinner for 35 cents a plate. Ate dinner and on our way by 11:45 AM. Princeton, city of trees---then through Moline, Rock Island, Davenport, one city into another. Spent night at West Liberty, put up at Brooks Hotel. Pulled out at 6:00 AM, drove 50 miles. Took breakfast at a little town named Ladora.

Just before reaching there we passed a German settlement where the homes were all in one door yard with acres and acres of corn on either side of the road---most corn I ever saw in one field. Iowa City was a beautiful city of old trees--just like driving thru the forest only on paved road, beautiful homes. Just now we are passing the capitol building of Iowa.

Clara is insisting to stop so we will -- walked all around the building and saw some of the interiors, also visited the art museum, historical museum. There was a large public library in this same building but we didn't see it. The men were too anxious to keep moving westward, so we did. We tried to buy colored view card in every town but were unable to get them. We ate dinner in another small place called Adel, had a fine plate dinner. We visited a few stores, saw the interior of their court house on our way hoping to reach Nebraska by night. This we did, we made fine time driving through Council Bluff over the toll bridge. (we paid toll) first one I ever saw, across the Missouri River, over into Nebraska. Those were both big cities and I was glad when we were on the other side--Hugh drove through both. We made such good time and reached the capitol city about 5 o'clock, the capitol is Lincoln. Here we went to see the capital buildings, not even hoping to see the inside, as the building was being closed for the night. We didn't ask, but one of the official guides called to us and said that "Bill", a colored boy would act as guide and show us around. It was one grand and glorious sight. They have gathered material from all parts of the world to build. All of our own Indiana rock was used, and marble from different parts of the United States, beautiful tapestries graced the walls of some of the rooms. We were taken up in tower and had a birds eye view of the city---beautiful city. We spent the night in cabins in the city campground. Daddy awoke next morning about 2:30 and thought it was morning, woke us all up, so I wrote 3 cards ready for mailing in the morning and went back to bed. When we awoke again it was raining. So we didn't mail our cards but left them about 40 miles farther west. We had breakfast and mailed our cards at Friend, Neb. Don't know yet where we will get our dinner. We are in Holdrege, Neb. now filling up with gas and oil and it is 11 o'clock . 12:30 PM took dinner in Oxford, Neb. at Pat's Cafe --roast beef, potatoes, yellow string beans, macaroni, gravy, coffee, for 25 cents, all you could eat. Bought some cards 20 cents and again we are on our way. I'm writing as we skim along

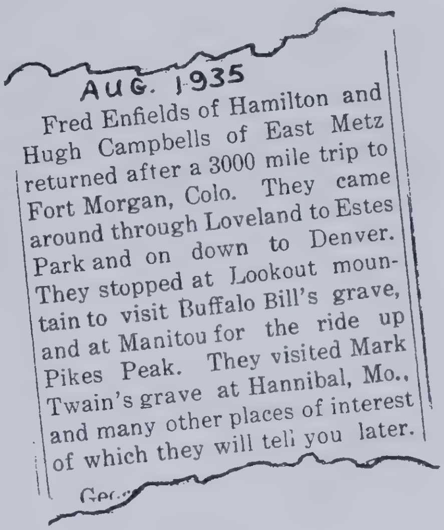
This morning we came for miles along waste land where the sand storms were so bad last summer. The land was so level you could see for miles and miles, no house, just bare gound---some places there was a little yellow looking grass. The horses were poor things looking and looking for a little to nibble on. Sorry looking sight but what I wanted to tell you is how the sky seems to come right down to the ground in the far, far distance, not a thing to break the sky line but a small tree, one in several miles. Talk about wide spaces, perhaps I'll see more farther on but we certainly have lots of room, the houses to far between that you almost think there is no one inhabiting these places.

This afternoon however we are getting in more rolling country, dirt roads, more and better crops. More trees that grow along the Republican River. You can tell where the shores are by the trees.

West of McCook, Neb. the railroad for a distance of 5 miles was washed out by the floods--they were rebuilding. Every since we left Lincoln we have had dirt road, with a little exception now and then. The road is under construction, so it is necessary to detour quite often. The weather is getting hotter and the dry winds are raising havoc with our faces. Mine looks like I had the measles. it burns and so does my throat.

We stopped Wauneta, Nebraska for water--after leaving there we came into what Clara calls foot hills with great gullies washed out some of those hills look like what I imagine the cliff dwellers lived in--thru out across the wide open spaces--where you can see for miles and miles, looks to me like waste land but you see little homes, no larger than our cabin in the cabin camp, back into the caves. No house close to road and all set way back and miles apart. Great fields of grain either shocked or stacked sometimes as many as 30 stacks in one field. Now and then a barn as you near the cities, the homes are closer together. We have rode for an hour now and saw nothing but hills touching the sky in the distance. 4:30 and we left Nebraska, entered into Colorado, last lap before Fort Morgan. First city was Holyoke in Phellip County right out by the fairgrounds and the road begins to meet you again and dust. It's gritting in my teeth. I can't describe my feeling on seeing the mountains, they make me feel sort of little and insignificant. I can better understand now why David said "I look away to the hills from which cometh my strength." There was a smoky haze over the peaks and the clouds seem to settle down over the mountain top. We ate supper at Sterling, Colo about 6 o'clock and drove on to Fort Morgan getting in about 8 o'clock. We spent the night in the home of Clem Solt's, who are cousins of Mrs. Enfield and my husband. They entertained us royally---next day Mr. Solt and his son Ralph took us on tour over his ranch, he has hundreds of feeding cattle and they were certainly a sight. Instead of using water from the large reservoirs for irrigation, they have wells, which pump 1300 gallons of water per minute at a cost of 20 cents per hour. Clearest water you ever saw. Called on Irene and Ralph in their homes. Irene and Leonard are just getting settled in their new home. Ethel had a lovely 2 course dinner ready for us when we came back and Friday evening we took our supper and drove out to a picnic park. Irene and her little girls, Ralph and his wife and family, came too. We had a lovely time. Ice cream and cake then we went back to Clem's and spent the evening visiting. Next morning, which was saturday August 24, we made our farewells and started for Estes Park and Denver. Estes Park was to my notion the most beautiful place I saw. Our first experience was being in a hole and trying to see out. Solid rock tower for thousand of feet on all sides---here true as I tell you the water appeared to be running up hill all the while we were driving up. It appeared down only when you look back could you prove to yourself you were going up.

Aug. 25, 1935---3:20 o'clock we left Manito Colo for the Peak. Went up in an old touring car, Pierce Arrow, built purposely for mountain climbing. He said in their races up the Peak the Fords had the record for fast climbing but they used up all the snow drifts in their radiators. It's about 8000 feet straight up from Manito but we went up around the mountain, over hairpin and switchback curves, breathtaking. Looks like sudden and awful death at every turn. I wanted to look at the beautiful sights, it was glorious---but sickening for me. I had to close my eyes and trust to Providence. When we left Manito, it was warm, too warm to wear our coats and when we paid our toll at the gate the lady offered us sheep lined coats but Clara told her we were from Alaska and were used to the cold. We wrapped up in the blankets provided for us and then we were cold. The higher we went the colder it was, just 34 degrees above zero on top, my ears hurt and Clara said it was my imagination and when we were above the timber line my breath came in short pants but I said nothing, but look at rest. Hugh was very pale, Clara's lips were black and Fred said his head swam a little, he got some hot coffee before he went down. The clouds hung so low it was hard to see very far and Hugh went outside and stayed so long we were all frightened. We thought perhaps he had ventured too close to the edge of the drive and fallen over for it certainly was a dizzy place. Fred located him after a while in the mens rest room. We all felt better. Guess I would have jumped off too it we hadn't found him. The effect on each of us was different. Made Hugh silly, he just laughed and laughed going down. Fred talked like magpie. Fred had wrapped up in an Indian blanket with his straw hat down over his eyes to hold it on. Hugh thought he was something to laugh at. I had to put my hat on backwards with the rubber under my chin to keep it on. When we started up, Clara wanted the top down, so the driver did but it wasn't long till it rained and we had to stop and put it up again. Going up was awful for me but coming down I began to enjoy it and could take in the beautiful sights. The distance up and back was 48 miles and took 7 gal. of gas to go up and 1/2 gallon coming down. We reached the plain about nightfall---had our supper---and went to a Congregational Sing in the park where they sang all the old favorite gospel songs---we sang with them. It was so quiet and restful down there and my heart was just running over with thankfulness after the breath taking trip. We spent the night at Manitou, Colo. Next morning we were on our way again---too early for the mail, drove out of Colorado into Kansas just about noon. Spent Monday night Belois Kansas after a long drive of 373 miles of prairie land. Had breakfast this morning in Miltonvale after driving 40 miles over soft dirt road (detour again). Many bridges were washed out on our road by the spring flood. Took dinner at Seneca Kan. We have only driven about 140 miles so far today which is Aug. 27 because of dirt and freshly tared roads but as we near the state line the farming land looks better, more trees and everything is green and nicer. Got our directions mixed at Troy and started back west, lost a little time coming back to Troy. we got our bearings and began wheeling for St. Joseph, about 4 o'clock we crossed the Missouri River leaving Kansas and entering Missouri, first pretty place was Silver Lake Park. Little lake like a pond in our state. We spent the night at Brookfield, Missouri at private home where they had rooms for rent. Here we had a flat tire to fix. We left Brookfield Wednesday 5 o'clock AM, stopped for breakfast 58 miles east at Shelbina, thence to Hannibal which is 50 miles more. Here we follow the Mark Twain Trail to the cave, admission 50 cents. A guide lit two lanterns giving one to Hugh to carry. He led us around, pointed out the places of interest, where Jessie James hid with his men. The rock that he could hide under had a hole up through which he could stick his gun and shoot every man who came through. Of course, this is the cave you read of in Tom Sawyer. We also saw his old home which has been donated to the town to be open to the public. The statue of Tom and Huck is at the foot of the hill. They are building a new bridge across the Mississippi River here and we saw them at work. They were building from either side toward the center. We came across another toll bridge from Missouri into Illinois. We expect to reach Springfield for dinner.



AUG. 1935

Fred Enfields of Hamilton and Hugh Campbells of East Metz returned after a 3000 mile trip to Fort Morgan, Colo. They came around through Loveland to Estes Park and on down to Denver. They stopped at Lookout mountain to visit Buffalo Bill's grave, and at Manitou for the ride up Pikes Peak. They visited Mark Twain's grave at Hannibal, Mo., and many other places of interest of which they will tell you later.

Words to the song referred to in the article by Louise Seiple "Uncle John": See article on page 9

I WANT AN ORPHAN

I don't like your family, they don't make a hit with me. You are a perfect lady, but when I get hitched for life, I want an orphan.

Verse: Your father and brother tell lies to your mother about all the women they see. I don't mind lending money to spend on their "Honey", but your Mother lays the blame on me.

Verse: Sweet little Annie torments the piano while Willie plays tunes on a comb. Your father and Mother throw plates at each other, and "Baby" won't sleep night or day.

Chorus: I don't think your Uncle John ever had a collar on. You're a perfect lady, but when I get hitched for life, I want an orphan.

Mitchell S. Campbell is the present superintendent of the County Farm of Steuben County in Pleasant Township. He is a young man well qualified for his administrative responsibilities, is a capable farmer, a vocation to which he has been trained since early boyhood, and is a native of Steuben County.

He was born in Richland Township, May 27, 1887, a son of William and Sophronia (Haswell) Campbell. His parents were both born in DeKalb County, where the grandparents were pioneers. The paternal grandfather, James Mitchell Campbell, was one of the early settlers in that county and developed a farm and spent the rest of his life there. His farm was on Fish Creek. William Campbell was born in 1848 and his wife in 1851, they were married in DeKalb County and in the late '70s moved to Steuben County and bought a farm in Richland Township, where the father lived until his death in 1893. His widow is now living with her son Hugh in Richland Township. They had six children: Viola, deceased: Clara: Florence; Lizzie; Mitchell S.; and Hugh A. Hugh A. Campbell also served four years as superintendent of the Steuben County Farm and is now a resident of Richland Township.

Mitchell S. Campbell grew up on the home place in Richland, acquired a district school education, and by practical experience has become a good farmer. He also took the Jesse Berry Horse Training Course, and is well qualified to handle and train horses. Until his appointment to his present duties he was a farmer and owned thirty-three acres in Scott Township. In March, 1918, the County Board of Commissioners appointed him as superintendent of the County Farm. Mr. Campbell is a republican and is liberal in his religious views.

In 1917 he married Miss Verle Holbrook, of Steuben County, daughter of Frank and Elizabeth (Folck) Holbrook, of Fremont, Indiana. They have one daughter, Mildred Elizabeth, born December 15, 1918.

The Campbells are Coming!

James Riley Campbell

Jim Campbell, next to the youngest son of Hugh and Sylvia (Richardson) Campbell, was born October 4, 1931 at the family farm home, located in Richland Township, Steuben County Indiana.

Jim attended the Metz Schools and graduated in 1950. He then joined the Indiana National Guard, serving in Co. I 293 Inf. 38th Div. for eight years, and was discharged with the rank of Master Sergeant E8.

Also during this same time span he began a career in printing at the Higley Press in Butler, Indiana, first becoming a journeyman pressman and then a journeyman offset stripper.

In September of 1960 he was hired to work for the first color separation trade shop in Fort Wayne, Indiana - Precision Litho, Inc. In 1965 he changed companies working for Jose Colorplate, Inc. where he was the head litho stripper as well as Shop Foreman.

In January of 1971, along with two others partners he started a color separation company (Centre Graphics, Inc.) and served as president and General Manager.

In January 1979 Jim and his wife Helen formed a new company (Thriftco Graphics, Ltd.) to serve the Fort Wayne and surrounding area, providing graphic services to the printing industry. This business continues to date.

Now back to family life information. June 30, 1951 Jim married Helen Brooks, daughter of Charles and Aliene (Willibey) Brooks.

They purchased a home just south of Alvarado in Richland Twp. Steuben Co. Indiana.

They are members of the Alvarado United Methodist Church. Both are quite active in church work.

Jim is also a member of the Masonic Lodge and Scottish Rite. He is a Past Master in the Blue Lodge.

Jim and Helen have three children: Steven Craig born December 3, 1952: Kathryn Louise born January 27, 1957: and Kristin Lee born May 23, 1960.

They also have seven grandchildren: Christopher & Tanya Campbell, Joshua, Travis, and Nick Emerick, and Thaddeus & Caitlin Richardson.

FRED ENFIELD, MANAGER.
Lake View Circle Park is located on one of the Best Lakes in the State of Indiana for Fishing, Boating and Bathing. Plenty of Good Water.
EVERYTHING IN A SANITARY CONDITION.

IF YOU ARE LOOKING FOR A SUMMER HOME COME AND SEE ME

Hamilton, Ind., March 17 1911

Angola

Well Hugh I thought I would half to write you the news. you are Nephew to a big 9lb boy down on fish creek flats I thought you would want to go down and see him. Fred called up Jess this morning and ask him if he took him out to help do the chores. Jess is pretty proud. it was born yesterday the 16th. We are going to butcher our hog to-day. Fred is awful glad he got the wall in for the log house when he did. I am gathering 37 dozen eggs a week now. isnt that pretty good. well Hugh I will ring off as I have to get a move on, as this is butchering day. but I thought I would half to take time to write the news,, from Clara Enfield.

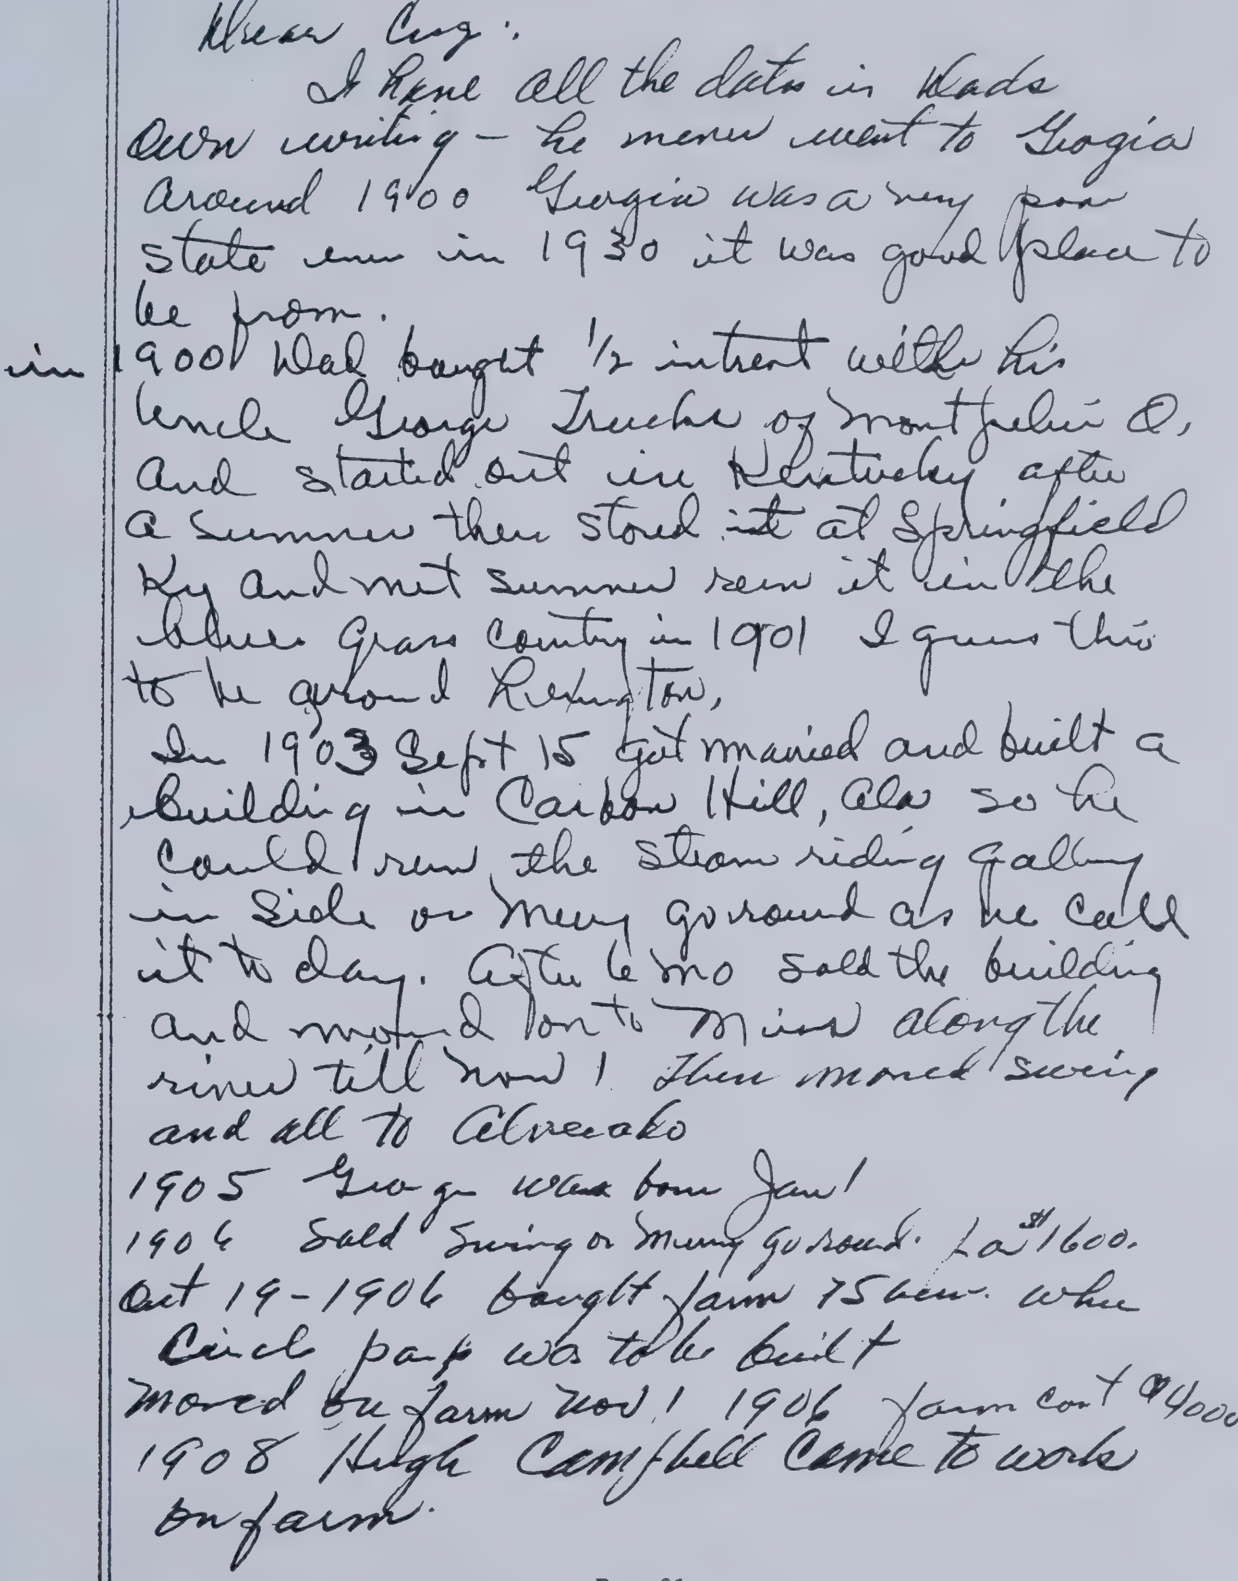
This is a letter from Hugh Enfield to his cousin Louise (Campbell) Seiple. He lists in sequence dates his father and mother went into business and started Circle Park Resort, Hamilton Lake, Hamilton, IN.



Dear Cuz:

I have all the dates in Dads own writing – he never went to Geogia Around 1900 Georgia was a very poor state even in 1930 it was good place to be from.

in 1900 Dad bought 1/2 intrest with his uncle George Trucker of Montpelier O, and started out in Kentucky after a summer then stored it at Springfield Ky and next summer ran it in the blue Grass Country in 1901 I guess this to be around Lexington,

In 1903 Sept 15 got married and built a building in Carbon Hill, Ala so he could run the steam riding gallery in side or Merry go round as we call it to day. After 6 mo sold the building and moved on to Miss along the river till nov 1. Then moved swing and all to Alvarado

1905 George was born Jan 1

1906 Sold Swing or Merry go round. for $1600.

Oct 19-1906 bought farm 75 acr. where Circle park was to be built

Moved on farm nov. 1 1906 farm cost $4000.

1908 Hugh Campbell Came to work on farm.

1909 Circle park was laid out lots were in Circles thus no one had a back or Corner lot so the name Circle park. After the assessor come around
And charged so much per lot all lots were struck from the map so it would be taxes as a plot of ground.

1909 built first log Cabin
1911 " Second " " 1911 Jun 7 I was born
1921 Ora Lasher moved on farm
1921 Built tobagon slide
1925 Sold park $29,000.—
1926 Built a cottage in Oakwood
1930 Built another cottage in "
1935 Built a house N. Superior St Angola
1938 " " " S. Wayne St "

This is about the main dealings dad had except for another house in Angola and a store building in Hamilton, He never lost much money on any of his deals of course we must remember a stove that sell for $$4^{\underline{95}}$ was 98¢ in 1902

This is about all the run down I have on the Enfield tribe that any of the Cousins would ever care about.

Lake View Circle Park

HAMILTON, IND.

Platted by Fred Enfield. These lots are located along the south and east shores of Fish Lake, and are for lease by Fred Enfield.

Fifty per cent. of the rental goes on the grounds each year for improvements.

As you probably noted in Hugh Enfield's letter to Louise (Campbell) Lechleidner, the Lots plotted out on this drawing by Fred Enfield in 1909 for his Lakeview Circle Park were never sold that way because of Tax problems.

Mrs. Hugh Campbell and little son James Riley, had an experience the other evening they don't care to have repeated. While returning from Angola about a mile south of Metz, Mrs. Campbell attempted to fasten the door to the car while travelling between 45 and 50 miles per hour. The door [illegible] throwing both occupants out. Fortunately no bones were broken although both were badly cut and bruised. Mrs. Campbell was confined to her bed a few days and is still unable to use her right arm. James Riley is able to be about but he still has a very painful hip. Friends who called in the home last week were: Mr. and Mrs. Paul Moor, Mrs. Fred Williby, Mrs. Hattie Williby of East Metz. Rev. and Mrs. Morse, Florence Lasher, Ethel Carey, Lucy Wood, Alieen Burrell, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Rockey, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Enfield, Mr. and Mrs. James Wisner, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Richardson, Doris Bulien and boy friend of Carnden, Mich., Donnell Campbell of Hillsdale, Mich., Leeta Bordner, of Berlin, O., Mrs. Olive Bowles and Miss Helen Hoffman of Metz and Mrs. Tip Ingram of Alverado. Mrs. Eva Kogin and daughter Dorthea, called Monday evening and presented a box of delicious fruit and candy from the Sunday school class at Mt. Pleasant. The Campbells certainly appreciate the kindness of everyone.

Campbell family to reunite at park

The Campbell family reunion will be held Sunday, July 27, with a potluck dinner at noon at the Angola Commons Park.

The Commons is located east of the mound on East Maumee Street to John Street, turn right, then left on Victory to enter the park.

All descendants of James Mitchell and Hanna (Ball) Campbell are invited. Bring lawn chairs or blankets to sit on.

In case of bad weather call Phyllis Horn for more information at 665-9665. The event will be hosted by Horn and Jessie Dove.

EAST METZ

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Campbell and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Brandeberry, Mr. and Mrs. Denver Maxton, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Somerlott and family, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Lechleidner and Beverly Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Alwood, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Alwood and Mary attended the Haswell Mathews 50th anniversary reunion Sunday at Winona Lake in the home of Effie Russell, a cousin. They with 110 other cousins visited the Billy Sunday Tabernacle to view the beautiful painting in the large auditorium. This beautiful painting is the largest continuous painting in the United States, measuring 59 feet in length. It is a semi-tropical scene and required 54 hours to complete. By the use of lights one is taken through the day, sunset and early twilight, and a sweet feeling of peace falls upon one and one almost expects to see the Savior walking in the beautiful garden. The artist, George A. Haswell, is a nephew of the late Sophronia Campbell, of this place. His father, George Ianthus Haswell of Fort Wayne, Ind., and the older brother of Sophronia Haswell Campbell was a skilled workman in many lines, a cooper, wagon maker, maker of grain cradles, cabinet maker, organ builder. He served three years in the Civil War. George Alman, the son and artist, was born in Fort Wayne, Sept. 6, 1886, and like his father he is a skilled workman in many different lines. Fifty-four years old, and a handsome bachelor.

June 1, 1934

Sop daughter of Hesron Haswell, was born 1850, in Troy townsh county, Indiana, and died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jesse Brandeberry in Scott township, Steuben county, Indiana, June 1, 1934, aged 84 years, 3 months and 18 days. She was the youngest of a family of ten children, all of which preceded her in death.

She was united in marriage to William Allen Campbell Aug. 4, 1875. To this union were born seven children, Viola May, who died Aug. 9, 1900, aged 24 years; Clara S. Enfield, of Hamilton; Flossie A. Lasher, of Richland township; Mary E. Brandeberry, of Scott township; Mitchell S. Campbell, of Camden, Mich.; Hugh A. Campbell, of Richland township; and one son, who died in infancy.

Her husband preceded her in death Feb. 6, 1893, leaving her with the care of her family and to fight the battle of life alone.

She was baptized into Christ about forty years ago. She leaves to mourn their loss five children, twenty-one grandchildren and a host of other more distant relatives and friends. Thus ends a long and useful life.

Now the golden sun is setting
  And another day is nearly done,
From that day's work reclining
  Till tomorrow has begun.

But life with all its sorrows
  Leaves at the parting of the day,
To gain its height tomorrow
  And in that land of beauty stay.

The funeral service was held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jesse Brandeberry, in Scott township, Sunday, June 3, 3:00 p. m., Rev. Ralph Morse officiating. Burial in Mt. Pleasant cemetery.

HASWELL--MATTHEWS

Reunion Held at the Home of Solomon Alwood Aug. 14.

The 18th annual reunion of the Haswell and Matthews families was held at the pleasant farm residence of Solomon Alwood, three miles north of Artic, Friday the 14th of August. The day was an ideal one and every one enjoyed themselves. The relatives, just even 100, commenced to gather at the home and before noon relatives and friends to the number of 160 were ready to be greeted by the host and hostess, Sol Alwood and wife, making them feel at home

A ball game and other games were the program for the morning. Promptly at noon Mr. Alwood and wife announced dinner. What a dinner! Two long tables were groaning with their abundance of good things. In the past reunions we have always had a champion eater but as none has been reported I guess we all did full justice.

After dinner the company was called to order by the president, Sherman Robinett, of Butler, Ind. He announced prayer by Rev. T. J. Russell, of Knox. Ind. followed by the welcome address by Sol Alwood, he made us feel at home and glad to be there. This was responded to by Leon Griffin, of Milwaukee, Wis. In his address he surprised us all by presenting our president a large key 3 feet long, unlocking our hearts to love and harmony. His address was fine and so appropriate for the occasion. Then followen remarks by G. I. Haswell, of Fort Wayne, Ind., telling of his honesty in the family and holding the key presented. Remarks by Dyer Matthews, Auburn Ind. Remarks by L. R. Haswell Barnes, Kans Recitation, "My Neighbor,', Waunetta Melendy, Reading, Mich ; recitation, Violet Enterline, Hamilton, Ind,; recitation "Doing Up the Dishes" Edna Smith, Gas City, Ind.; song Cora and Gladys Crabbs, Roanoke Ind.; song Rev. The next reunion will be held at O. P. Learned's June 19, 1896. James Colman was elected President for another year, and Geo. I. Haswell, Secretary.

On Friday the relatives and friends numbering about 100 went to Pleasant Island at Hamilton, where all had a good time boat riding, and pitching horse shoes. A contest occurred in which Fort Wayne, De Kalb and Michigan participated. Michigan won the day and carried off the champion honors.

Geo. I. Haswell, of Fort Wayne, gave an account of adventures he had passed through since we last met. He was in a bad condition at our last reunion, having had his shoulder dislocated while leading a cow. He said nothing of importance had occurred latery, only he was laid up two weeks by riding a bicycle, or trying to.

Ice cream was served after the Program.

The Haswell-Mathews Reunion.

One of the very happy social events of the past week was the 11th annual reunion of the Haswell-Mathews families which was held at the pleasant home of Mary Leason, 4½ miles east of Hamilton on Friday, Aug. 9, 1901. At the hour of 12:30, relatives and friends to the number of 122 had assembled, when dinner was announced.

After the bounteous feast of good things, the president, James Coleman, gave the welcome address, which was followed by a report by the secretary of the reunion held last year at the home of Frank Simon, at Bear Lake, 4 miles east of Reading, Michigan. Then came the miscellaneous exercises consisting of a song entitled "Poor Little Joe," by Jennie and Mertie Swinehart. Recitations, "O! Kitchen Floor," by Grace Foutz; "Cure for Rheumatism," by Carrie Leason; "Speaken pieces purty tough; I spoke one and that's nugh," by Agnes Robinett; "Little Daisy Dunton." Marl McNabb; In German, "Deloraleukenton," Ida Kester; "How Ellen Haswell planted seeds, and G. I. Haswell dug them up for weeds," by Franc Wilcox; "Do you know her," by Jennie Swinehart; "Fourth of July picnic," Nellie Kuster; "Ups and Downs," Clara Campbell; "On the Other Train," by Mertie Swinehart. These exercises were interspersed with good talks by G. I. Haswell, and Timothy and Simeon Aldrich. A letter was read by Franc Wilcox, of Indianapolis, from L. R. Haswell, of Burns, Kansas. Harrison Holdredge, of Reading, Mich., gave a talk on "Self bravery and how he licked the biggest shoat in college for eating his cake;" and also how he would like to be senator of Indiana. A cake walk by G. I. Haswell and Ruth Simon; a song by Ruth Simon, entitled, "Bird in a gilded cage," and several songs by the audience, made up the program.

The next reunion will be held the second week in August, 1902, at the home of Amenzo Melendy, three miles west of Reading, Mich. The officers for the coming year are as follows: Amenzo Melendy, president; James Coleman, vice-president, and John A. Waller, secretary and treasurer.

Jessica R. Holton

Jessica Holton, nine year old daughter of Toney and Kathleen Peppler Holton, was killed April 15, 1992 near her home in Howe, IN in a pickup truck-bicycle accident. She was born April 10, 1983 and was a third grade student at the Lima-Brighton School in Howe. Jessica was a member of the Lima-Brighton Brownie Troop, Young Authors Club, Young Scientists Club, Math Pentathlon, an acolyte at Howe United Methodist Church, Church Kids Club, Sunday School Class and LaGrange Girls Softball team.

Surviving are her parents, sister Morgan, grandparents Gary and Beverly Peppler of Howe, and Virginia Holton and Robert Holton of Sturgis MI, great-grandparents Louise Seiple of Huntington IN, DeLaures Peppler of Columbia City IN, Anona Maxson and Ethel Holton of Sturgis MI, and Allen Nobles of Camp Verge AZ.

This song was written by the father of one of her friends at the time of her death:

I AM NEAR

I know that you will miss me,
Your heart will cry out, "Why?"
And tears will come quickly
To try to dim your eyes.
But don't worry about me
Just look toward the sky,
You may see me standing
With Jesus by my side.

I am safe in God's heaven
He's holding my hand
I can see His angels, Mommy,
Someday you'll understand.
I am safe in God's heaven.
He's holding my hand.
I can see His angels whisper
In your ear, "I am near, I am near."

Sometimes there is no answer
That seem to satisfy.
So hold on to our Father's hand
His peace He will supply.
And don't worry about me.
You may see me standing
With Jesus by me side.

I am safe in God's heaven
He's holding my hand
I can see His angels, Daddy,
Someday you'll understand.
I am safe in God's heaven.
He's holding my hand.
I can see His angels whisper
In your ear, "I am near, I am near."

In loving memory of Jessica R. Holton by her friend Marissa Murphy's father, Mark April 17, 1992.

Violet Heisler

Violet V. Heisler, 66, of Farmer, Ohio, died yesterday in Bryan Community Hospital.

The Reading, Mich., native worked several years at Aro Corp. in Bryan, Ohio.

Surviving are her husband, Virnard; daughter, MarJean Heisler of Pocatello, Idaho; sons, James of Bryan, John of Ney, Ohio, and Mark of Hicksville, Ohio; sister, Mildred Clark of Stryker, Ohio; brothers, Howard Campbell of Pulaski, Ohio, Joe Campbell of Quincy, Mich., and Grover Campbell of Fort Wayne; and six grandchildren.

Services are 11 a.m. tomorrow in Zion Lutheran Church, Farmer, with burial in Farmer Cemetery. Calling is until 9 tonight, and 9 to 10 a.m. tomorrow in Brown Funeral Home, Hicksville, and 10 to 11 a.m. tomorrow in the church.

Father, son die in airplane crash

MORRIS, Minn — A flight to Alaska for a Stryker, Ohio, man and his son ended in tragedy Tuesday evening when their small plane crashed about 1½ miles west of Morris in west central Minnesota.

Killed were Darwin Clark, 39, RFD 1, Stryker, and his son, Sterling, 15.

The 1946 Taylorcraft, piloted by Darwin, made a 45 degree nose dive into an open wildlife area and killed both men upon impact, said Sheriff Larry Sayre of Stevens County, Minn. There was no fire and weather was not a factor.

Sterling Clark

Sheriff Sayre said the plane crashed about 7:45 p.m. Wednesday (8:45 p.m. Ohio time) in Stevens County, Minn., which has a population of 12,000. He said there were no witnesses at the time of the crash.

The cause of the accident remains undetermined at this time, said Sheriff Sayre. He said investigators from the Federal Aviation Association in Chicago arrived late this morning while investigators from the National Transportation Safety Board, Minneapolis, were to arrive this afternon to investigate the accident. The FAA requires autopsies to be conducted.

The Clarks left around 2 p.m. Monday from the Williams County Airport, Bryan, Ohio, for Alaska. Mr. Clark, an assistant pastor at the Living Word Fellowship Church in Stryker, was flying to Alaska to accept a job as director of the Anchorage Area Youth For Christ. Sterling was accompanying his father.

Marylou Clark had planned to stay behind until the family house was sold and was to meet her husband and son in mid August when all were to attend a family reunion in Spokane, Wash., which is her hometown. She and her daughter, Crystal, 16, were to load up the car and trailer and travel west to join the family. Crystal is currently on a trip to Venezuela.

Darwin Clark

Upon leaving Monday, a line of thunderstorms forced the Clarks to land the plane for the night in DeKalb, Ill. Upon leaving Tuesday, the pair had planned to make the next scheduled stop in Brandon, Manitoba, Canada, some 240 miles from the site of the crash.

The Clarks had planned to cruise along at about 100 mph with a flying time of three hours before refueling.

Richard Schreder, manager at the Williams County Airport, said Mr. Clark was an experienced, commercially licensed pilot. He said Mr. Clark had flown the plane, recently acquired from Chicago, for about a month to prepare himself for the trip.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Grisier Funeral Home in Stryker with services to be held at the Living Word Fellowship Church.

Mr. Clark was associate pastor at the Living Word Fellowship Church for about 3½ years. He was a 1966 Stryker High School graduate and had attended Prairie Bible Institute.

Sterling had completed his freshman year at the Living Word Christian School.

GEORGE H. ENFIELD

Agronomist, 73, At Agriculture

George H. Enfield, 73, a retired agronomist with the Agriculture Department, died Wednesday nite at his home in Silver Spring after apparently suffering a heart attack.

He had retired in early 1971 but was called back to work during the summer on a corn leaf blight outbreak before his final retirement.

Born in Hamilton, Ind., Mr. Enfield earned degrees in agricultural chemistry and agronomy from Purdue University where he worked under the cooperative extension program until 1953.

He then was an extension agricultural adviser in Iran and later worked with Jordan's ministry of agriculture before joining the Agriculture Department's Extension Service here in 1955 as a soil specialist.

Mr. Enfield was a member of the American Society of Agronomy, the Soil Science Society of America, the Crop Science Society of America, the Soil Conservation Society of America and the International Society of Soil Science.

He was active in the Leisure World Kiwanis Club and the new Interfaith Chapel, now under construction at Leisure World.

He is survived by his wife, Irene, of the home; two sons, Carl, of Ada, Okla., and Jerry, of Richmond; a brother, Hugh, of Decherd, Tenn., and six grandchildren.

The family suggests that expressions of sympathy may be in the form of contributions to the Interfaith Chapel Building Fund, Rossmoor Leisure World.

Donnell Ervin Campbell

A Minister in the Campbell family?

After we had moved from our farm near Edon, Ohio to Huntington, Indiana to prepare for the ministry, George Enfield stopped early at our house (about six o'clock in the morning) on his way to an appointment in his work north of us in Indiana. George said it was about time we had a minister in the family. He didn't know of any others in our family, anyway.

College seemed like quite a change at that time. One thing noticeably different was that I could comb my hair in the morning, put on a clean shirt, go all day, and still look fairly presentable. It hadn't been that way on the farm. I used to change clothes for even a short trip to town. I didn't like to wear my dirty work clothes to town.

When we left the farm, Nondace was in the third grade and Thaine was three years old. It was nineteen years after my graduation from high school, but I had been teaching Sunday School a few years. Also, we had been attending all of the short courses that the Higley Press conducted in the area. So, studying wasn't a difficult change.

My preparation for the ministry really began in the years of regular attendance and membership at the Mount Pleasant Church. -- Being on time was absolutely essential, then, (and still is, to us.)

More directly, the challenge for the ministry came from two men in the church, James Wisner and Jacob Rocky. When I was seventeen, they came and talked with me about being Sunday School Superintendent. I talked it over with Dad and Mom and was assured of their support if I tried. But, Dad reminded me, I wasn't elected just because I was asked. The whole church had to elect me.

After being superintendent about a year, the same two men came to me and told me I ought to go to college and prepare for the ministry. So, again, I talked to the folks about it. Dad said, ". . . that's something you want to be sure about. We will help you what we can, but it will be very limited because money is scarce now (early thirties). Besides, there are several mouths to feed in our family.

We didn't feel any urgency at the time to get into the ministry. I was not only just getting into the Sunday School work in our church, but also in the Steuben County Sunday School Association. I was privileged to have several offices in the association in the next few years. I was busy in that and helped to promote Bible Study in all of the county schools -- securing a Bible teacher, Frances McKinley, from the Mount Pleasant Church.

When Leeta and I were courting and talked about marriage, I told her that the Lord might call me to be in the ministry some time. She didn't see that as a problem. Needless to say, she was ready when the time came. I had not talked to her father or her brother about it, but they had already anticipated it, and had talked about it to each other. So they were not surprised.

I was superintendent at Mount Pleasant for thirteen or fourteen years. Then I taught Sunday School classes in Mount Pleasant and later at the Berlin Christian Union Church, which had been Leeta's home church before we were married. (When we got married, we attended Mount Pleasant as it was closer. Then, we moved down in Ohio near the Berlin Church, so we attended there.)

My first excuse for not getting into the ministry was that I didn't know the Bible well enough. But, through the Higley press seminars taught by Loyal Ringenberg, we gained a good knowledge of the Bible, even in relating the Book of Revelation, the last Book of the Bible, with Old Testament.

During that time our first little boy, Burdette, was born. He looked like a perfect eight-pounder, but when he was three weeks old, we took him to a specialist in Ft. Wayne on the advice of our home doctor. He was in St Luke's Hospital from the time he was three weeks old until he was three months old. He had two surgeries and was recovering slowly. They said he needed a mother's care, so they sent him home -- after we paid the bill. Of course, we had to borrow the money to pay the bills. How God helped to repay our loan is a whole story by itself.

We had people praying for us all over the area, but Burdette died when he was about nine months old. Our families and friends came for the funeral. Mr. Klink , the funeral director, said it was the biggest baby funeral he had ever had. Burdette was a real blessing to us. He was a lot of fun to play with.

In 1943, Nondace was born. She never did learn baby talk. As George Joyce, a neighbor, said, he liked to talk with her when she was small because "you didn't feel like you were talking to a kid." Nondace always wanted to make the family look good. We used to make homemade ice cream often. If we had some left over, we would have it for breakfast. On one of those occasions, her teacher asked what the children had had for breakfast. Nondace didn't say "ice cream" but "eggs and milk." -- Well, anyway, she is now in the English Department at The University of Findlay (Findlay, Ohio).

Thaine was born in 1948. He was the athlete of the family and participated in most of the sports in high school and college. From about fourth grade, his interest in music also increased, and Thaine is now director of bands at Huntington North High School (Huntington, Indiana).

Well, getting back to where we started talking about getting into the ministry . . . I told the Lord we would like to have our own farm. If that worked out, we would feel that was an indication for us to pursue our call to the ministry.

Things moved pretty fast, it seemed for a time. We got the farm. We borrowed the money from Leeta's folks and Dad and Mom. We put a new roof and new siding on the house, put in a bathroom, added to the barn, and paid off our debt in four years. Then we were reminded of our promise. After two more years, we made our move.

In the fall of 1951, I started at Huntington College (Indiana) not knowing how we would get the farming done. Each week we went to Huntington early on Monday morning. Then Leeta went back to the farm with Nondace and Thaine. She milked the cows, fed the pigs, and worked on the wheat ground for planting. Then on Friday evening she would come to Huntington; that gave us Saturday to work on the farm.

In six weeks, we had the farm rented to Roger and Dorothy Hake, and we moved to Huntington. We lived in army barracks owned by the college which had been remodeled for family living. We spent the next six years in school, pastored two small churches (five of the six years), and worked parttime at Schact's Rubber Company in Huntington.

It wasn't long after I started in the ministry until Willis Lechleidner, Louise's husband, began. I had always thought Willis should be the preacher in the family. Willis thought I ought to be the one, but we never had mentioned it to one another. Willis said that when I started in the ministry, he thought that would take the pressure off him. But it didn't. He said that it just made him realize what he should be doing. So we were in school together for a while and split a shift at Schact's to provide a little extra money for living and school expenses.

As I mentioned, our first churches were near Huntington -- out about forty miles. When we finished our college work, we were assigned to the Hillsdale (Michigan) United Brethren in Christ Church. This was a real surprise to us as that was one of our denomination's larger churches. We were expecting a country church due to our farm background. We thoroughly enjoyed the work at Hillsdale. The people were wonderful. We were there eleven years.

We felt we had accomplished all we could at Hillsdale, so we asked to be assigned to another church. While we had been in Hillsdale, the church had purchased six acres on the south side of town and built a beautiful fellowship hall. The plans had also been made for building a new sanctuary and education unit.

Our next assignment was the Hebron Church (now called Emmanuel) in Toledo, Ohio. After two years, when Rev Walter Sommers retired from the Crissey Church (located near the Toledo airport), we were assigned to both the Hebron and Crissey churches. This reduced the financial burden on both congregations because they could share the expense of a full-time pastor.

The people at Hebron were wonderful to work with, and the Crissy people were cooperative. The churches were happy, and so were we.

About two years after we added the Crissy Church, the Springfield Mennonite came to see if there was a possibility of uniting the Mennonite Church and the Crissy United Brethren Church. They needed more people, and Crissy needed a new building. The Mennonites had a new building; Crissey had been looking at new church building plans. The Crissey and Springfield congregations were wonderfully blessed by the Lord as we worked out the plans to unite. Both congregations approved the merger, there was not any opposition. It proved to be a great experience for all of us.

Five years after the merger, the newly organized Springfield United Brethren Church chose to have us full-time, so a new pastor was assigned to Hebron. We pastored the new Springfield U. B. Church until the time came for us to consider retirement.

The Trenton Hills (Adrian, Michigan) congregation invited us to come to Adrian and work with them as a Visitation Pastor. We always enjoyed calling on people (and still do!.) It has been twelve years since we came to Adrian. We are still here. The Lord has blessed us and our family abundantly. He has provided well for us. We want to praise Him and thank Him for His help. We are still enjoying being His servants.

The Thaine Campbell family history begins as Thaine and Millie meet while attending Huntington College in Huntington, In. Both graduated with Bachelor Degrees. Thaine begins as Assistant Band Director at Huntington North H.S. in the fall of 1970. Millie spends a year substitute Teaching in Huntington Schools and then begins teaching in the fall of 1971 at Northwest Elementary in Huntington School Corporation. Millie then takes a brief 7 year occupational change to mother, before returning to a year of Nursery School at College Park Church in Huntington and then to teach at Lancaster Elementary in the Huntington Schools. Thaine becomes involved in Huntington College Alumni Association and also serves on Huntington College Board of Trustees for four years. Millie continues to teach at the second grade level after moving from 6th grade. Thaine takes the Director of Bands position in 1983 at Huntington North High School. The Huntington North Band Traveled to Washington D.C. in 1989 To the Presidential Inaugural Parade to represent Vice President Dan Quayle's hometown Huntington. Thaine also continues to be involved in the Soccer Program as Coach at Huntington North High School.

Rev. Willis Lechleidner

Willis graduated from Huntington College in 1936 with an A.B. degree.

In 1937 he married Louise Campbell at her parents home east of Metz, Indiana.

They established their home in Peck, Michigan, a small village near Port Huron, Michigan, where he was engaged in teaching. While here, a daughter, Beverly Jean, was born - truly "a bundle of love."

Leaving Peck he taught school at Chester Center, near Bluffton, Indiana and later returned to Metz, his home school, and was Athletic Coach.

In the spring of 1944 he purchased the home at Alvarado, Indiana and that fall began teaching at Edon, Ohio, (It was here he took the Ball Team to Columbus.)

Later he moved to Ohio City, Ohio, teaching English and Social Studies in high school and also Coaching.

Even though he had thrown himself into this work - he was very restless - so moving his family back to Alvarado he worked with Purdue University in their seed certification program and later with Internal Revenue in the State of Indiana.

Still feeling this was not what God would have him do he called the church to have special prayer for him. It was then he made his definite commitment to his Lord to preach the Gospel. After receiving his local conference license in February 1954 - April was appointed under Conference Superintendent, A. E. Stucker, to East Ovid United Brethren Church near Coldwater, Michigan. This church was in a building program when he arrived which included extra class rooms. This was completed and then dedicated by Bishop Ezra Funk during Willis' pastorate there.

In September 1955 he returned to Huntington College and entered the Seminary. During this time he served as Pastor of the Union Chapel Class near Fort Wayne, Indiana and worked a full night shift at Schadt Rubber Company to meet his college expenses. His daughter, Beverly, graduated from Huntington High School and married Gary Peppler in August in 1957. Willis and his brother-in-law, Donnell Campbell, were assisting ministers for this wedding. While here at Union Chapel he felt the need for a new location and building for this fast growing community. This dream was materialized under the Pastor who followed him, Rev. Robert Staup.

He completed his Seminary work in 1958 and in August 1958 was ordained under Bishop Clarence Carlson at Hillsdale, Michigan.

North Ohio Conference stationed him at Adrian, Michigan from 1958 to 1961. His first granddaughter, Kathleen Annette was born in 1960 and was dedicated by him in the morning service at the age of three weeks. While here in Adrian - he was president of the Lenawee Ministerial Association- worked on the Committee of Juvenile Court with Judge Spears, Probate Court of Lenawee County- the church moved into their newly purchased Parish house and established the church office with more Sunday School rooms and a library. The youth of the church started a church paper. The W.M.A. Prayer Band was organized; also two more church choirs were added Cherub and Intermediate; and three Christian Endeavors:- Junior, Youth, and Adult. He used the Adult C.E. to teach a Bible Study Class, and with his teaching background, could make every one see and feel the very presence of the Bible Character and the time in which they lived.

September 1961 - he was sent to Sherwood, Ohio, where in November he dedicated his second Granddaughter, Constance Lee, age three weeks in a morning service. In 1962 besides serving the Churches of Sherwood and North Delaware he taught in the Ney, Ohio, Elementary School and was Junior High Coach.

In October 1963 he dedicated his first grandson, Gordon Allen, at the Dedication Service of the Education Unit of the Alvarado Methodist Church, where his daughter and family are members.

The Sherwood Church is now building an addition to their one-room church to be used as an educational unit - this class having been organized ninety years ago. It was his hope that this dream would grow and Sherwood Circuit would become another of the great beacon light soul saving stations in the North Ohio Conference.

The Church Dedication Services is set for Sunday, November 15, 1964 at 2 P.M. with Bishop Clyde W. Meadows in charge of this special service.

Willis was truly a man of God - loved and respected by his family– as husband and father of untiring interest - never saying "No" when he felt their need was greatest. His greatest desire was to be a good witness, serve his Master, gather the lost ones in, and make Heaven his eternal home.

Happy sounding bells that ring,
Bless the angels as they sing.
Keep us safe both day and night,
Help us know what's wrong and right.

As we journey on our way,
Thy shall be in our thoughts each day.
Bless the Saviour as he lay,
In the manger on that day.

The angels all began to sing,
Praising Jesus Christ our king.
Then sudden voices from afar,
Joined in heaven's holy choir.

Far away upon that night,
A star in heaven got real bright.
To guide the pilgrims along their way,
To baby Jesus where he lay.

They came with gifts from far and near,
To give the Christ Child born so dear.
Because their hearts were filled with cheer,
And that's why Christmas comes each year!

Jesus Christ Was Born That Day,
In A Manger Far Away,
The Night Was Brightened By A Star
That Appeared In Heaven From Afar,

The Sheppards Came From Miles Away,
And Bowed Their Heads Down To Pray,
Beside The Baby Where He Lay.
With Mother Mary On That Day,

It Fills Our Hearts With Joy To Sing,
The Praises Of The New Born King,
Oh What A Glorious Sight To Behold,
Its Still The Most Beautiful Story Told,

The Voices Singing Soft And Low,
The Manger Lit Up With A Glow
The Baby Asleeping Through The Night,
In The Shadow Of Thy Light

Oh What A Blessing Sent From Above,
God Gave Us Thy Son With Thy Holy Love,
It Fills Our Hearts With Joy And Cheer

Hugh Enfield sent us a copy of a page out of the Cleveland Plain Dealer dated October 27, 1946 that his Aunt Kate Enfield had given to him. We found the pictures and descriptions with the photos very interesting and felt that they should be included in our Campbell History Book. Thanks Cousin Hugh.

Hugh also sent us an announcement he had saved of a SUPERIOR SERVICE AWARD that had been given to his brother George. We have included this also.

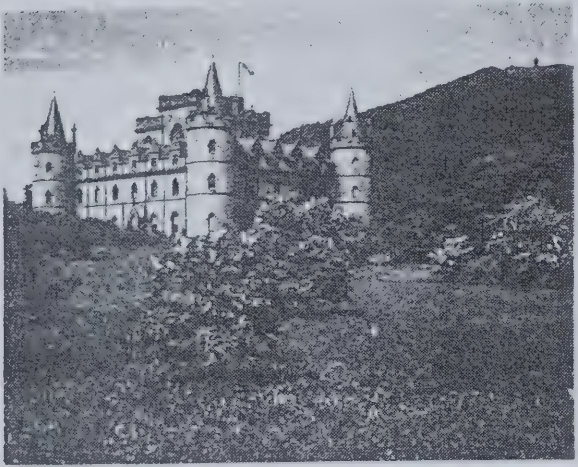
SCENES FROM HISTORY

Cleveland Plain Dealer Pictorial Magazine, October 27, 1946

The Campbells have a way of spreading over the earth, no matter what the country in which they take up residence. This was brought home forcibly to Glenn H. Campbell of Cleveland, when he set out to buy a Campbell plaid in Glasgow some years ago and discovered that four different patterns were offered for sale, each representing a separate wing of the clan. These branches are known respectively as the Campbells of Argyll, of Breadalbane, of Cawdor and of Loudoun. Although they are widely scattered in Scotland, they all stem from a small beginning made on the banks of Loch Awe in Argyllshire, Scotland about 1000 A. D.



INVERARAY CASTLE, home of the Duke of Argyll and center of the Campbell world. Beginning with a small holding, the Campbells spread until their lands reached from sea to sea and they became the most powerful clan in all Scotland.

THE ROYAL HOTEL, on the Quayside, Campbeltown. Formerly held by the MacDonalds, Campbeltown was taken from them by King James and given to the Campbells who named it for themselves (leaving one "l" out of the name.)

CASTLE CAMPBELL on Gloom Hill has stood looking down the Valley of the Devon for almost exactly 500 years. From here Colin Campbell went to Stirling to be Chancellor of Scotland, one of six such appointments for Campbell leaders before 1650; a leader of the Campbells marched to die on Flodden Field Sept. 9, 1513, along with King James of Scotland and most of his followers; Mary, Queen of Scots came to visit her brother-in-law, Archibald Campbell, fifth Earl of Argyll, Jan. 10, 1563, and on the greensward in front of the castle John Knox preached and dispensed the Lord's Supper.

ARGYLL STREET, Campbeltown. Wherever you come upon the name Argyll, you may know that a Campbell has been there ahead of you and left his trademark. Argyll to a Campbell means his own people. It is the branch of the family to which all Campbells eventually trace their origin.

Mothers Were Once Daughters

Every home should have a daughter, for there's nothing like a girl
To keep the world around her in one continuous whirl . . .
From the moment she arrives on earth,
and on through womanhood,
A daughter is a Female who is seldom understood . . .
One minute she is laughing,
the next she starts to cry,
Man just can't understand her and there's just no use to try . . .
She is soft and sweet and cuddly,
but she's also wise and smart,
She's a wondrous combination of a mind and brain and heart . . .
And even in her baby days
she's just a born coquette,
And anything she really wants she manages to get . . .
For even at a tender age
she uses all her wiles
And she can melt the hardest heart with the sunshine of her smiles . . .

She starts out as a rosebud with her beauty unrevealed,
Then through a happy childhood her petals are unsealed . . .
She's soon a sweet girl graduate,
and then a blushing bride,
And then a lovely woman
as the rosebud opens wide . . .
And some day in the future,
if it be God's gracious will,
She, too, will be a Mother and know that reverent thrill
That comes to every Mother whose heart is filled with love
When she beholds the "angel" that God sent her from above . . .
And there would be no life at all in this world or the other Without a Darling Daughter who, in turn, becomes a Mother!
